

Knox, Korndorff Confer On Company's Offer to Give U.S. Kearny Control

Discussion Adjourned Until Later This Afternoon; No Report Is Given

Holds for Point Plant, Chief Says, Is Unwilling to Have Closed Shop

(By The Associated Press)
Navy Secretary Knox and L. H. Korndorff, president of the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock Co., conferred for more than an hour today on the company's offer to turn over its strike-bound Kearny, N. J., yard to the navy, then adjourned their discussions to a later hour.

Other than a brief announcement by Korndorff that the conference would be resumed at 2 p. m. (E.S.T.), there was no disclosure regarding the meeting.

The tall, shipyard executive declined to say whether the navy intended to accept his offer, made yesterday and thus restore work on $48,000,000 of defense shipbuilding contracts.

Sidney Hillman, associate director general of the office of production management participated in the conference for a time, but left ahead of Korndorff.

Knox withheld any hint of his attitude toward the company's offer, affecting the big plant where 17,000 workers have been idle since Thursday.

In proposing the drastic step yesterday, Korndorff declared that the strike "involves no issue but the maintenance of the open shop. We are unwilling to abandon the defense of the freedom of the American worker to choose whether he will belong to a union or not."

Peter Flynn, vice president of the C. I. O. local which called the strike, quickly issued a counter-statement in which he declared that the company's "arrogant insistence on the 'open shop' stands exposed as merely another exhibition of the 'dollar patriotism' of the Kearny concern."

"It is already pretty general knowledge," Flynn said, "that the company has received an ultimatum from the Navy Department to capitulate to the national defense mediation board's recommendation for a modified union shop."

Even before Korndorff's offer, a high defense official declared that the Navy department had plans "lying ready on the desk" to take over the plant if the company did not alter its stand. The official, who would not permit use of his name, termed that stand "intransigent," and hinted at action within 48 hours.

At the heart of the dispute is the union's insistence on a contract clause providing that a union member must maintain his union membership in good standing if he is to continue as an employee.

The mediation board recommended such a clause, along with increased wages. The company granted the wage boosts but balked at the maintenance-of-union proviso.

Legal experts in Washington believed that if the navy should decide to take over the plant in the interest of national defense, an executive order by President Roosevelt might be necessary. Since the President is on a vacation cruise, there appeared to be some possibility of delay even if Knox decided to take up Korndorff's offer.

Offers Services
The National Railway Mediation Board yesterday offered its services to the management and employees of the nation's railroads, in an effort to avert a threatened strike which would tie up a major portion of the country's freight facilities.

Voices Opinion

Senator George Thinks Tax Exemptions Would Be Cut by Committee

Washington, Aug. 12 (AP)—Chairman George (D., Ga.) of the Senate finance committee voiced the opinion today that the committee would vote to reduce personal income tax exemptions to $750 for single persons and $1,500 for married couples, as recommended by the treasury.

Present exemptions allow $800 for single persons and $2,000 for those who are married.

George also said that he expected "some readjustment of personal income tax rates" to be made by the committee before it finishes its work on the new $3,236,700,000 tax program already approved by the House. He did not particularize, however.

Defense Hits Instalments Under Order From President

Easy Payment Curb Would Discourage Things Vital to Armament and Counteract Inflation Booms

Washington, Aug. 12 (AP)—Easy payment plans felt the impact of defense requirements today, as the administration acted to curb the nation's $10,000,000,000 installment credit business.

The announced purpose of the curb was twofold:

To discourage consumers from buying many things containing materials that otherwise would be conserved for defense production needs; and to counteract inflationary tendencies that arise when the demand for certain goods is greater than the supply.

President Roosevelt, in an executive order issued last yesterday, directed that the control system be set up to regulate the huge credit business now being transacted through the country's banks, stores and personal finance companies.

The order instructed the federal reserve system to formulate and administer the regulations under a World War statute which carries criminal penalties as high as 10 years' imprisonment and $10,000 fine, for violations.

There was no immediate indication of what the rules would be, but Mr. Roosevelt specifically authorized such measures as requiring down-payments where they are not now required; requiring bigger down-payments than now necessary; requiring larger weekly or monthly instalments, and reducing the length of time such payments may run.

Credit contracts already existing or entered into before the new regulations become effective will not be subject to the new regulations become effective will not be subject to the new control system.

The president held that the regulations were necessary to curtail the present use of instalment credit for purchase of "consumers' durable goods."

Chairman Marriner S. Eccles of the federal reserve board said that this meant "automobiles, washing machines, refrigerators, ironers, vacuum cleaners and many other goods."

Eccles did not specify the complete range of products whose purchase on credit would be affected. He avoided any details on the code of regulations that would be adopted, explaining that it would take several days to work this out.

Until the code has been formulated, he said, consumers were free to make purchases on whatever terms they can obtain from traders.

Board Chairman

WILLIAM B. BYRNE

William B. Byrne was elected chairman of the Kingston draft board at a recent meeting of the board to fill the vacancy caused by the resignation of Chairman Samuel Stern. Henry C. Connelly, the second member of the board was elected secretary. The third member is Dr. Joseph Rosenberg, who was appointed to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Stern's resignation.

Airmen Consider Women as Pilots

Ferry Command May Put Experienced in Service

Washington, Aug. 12 (AP)—Army air force officials were reported giving serious consideration today to the use of experienced women pilots in the army's airplane ferry command for flight work somewhat similar to that which women handle for the Royal Air Force in Britain.

While no final decision has been made, it was learned that the plan contemplated would assign women pilots to ferrying training planes from factories to training centers—a task which now occupies the time of regular army fliers who could otherwise be engaged in combat training.

The ferry command, under Col. Robert Olds, was created earlier this year, primarily to handle deliveries of planes destined for Britain from the points of manufacture to ocean shipping or hop-off centers on the east coasts of the United States and Canada. Another part of the new command's job is to ferry American army planes to airfields throughout the country.

X-Ray Tube Completed

Los Angeles, Aug. 12 (AP)—Dr. Clyde K. Emery, physician, said today he and associates have completed the world's most powerful X-ray tube for cancer treatment and research. The tube, he said, will generate between two and three million volts.

Darlan Is Named

Defense Minister In French Cabinet

All Military Powers Are Put in His Hands, He Has Most Power

Vichy, Unoccupied France, Aug. 12 (AP)—Vice-Premier Admiral Jean Darlan was named minister of national defense today in a reorganization of the French cabinet which concentrated all military powers in his hands.

A decree published in a special edition of the official journal gave Darlan greater powers than any person or combination of persons in France except Chief of State Marshal Petain himself.

The clue to the concentration of powers was seen in statements when such a measure first was hinted that Darlan would thus have his hands freer to conduct negotiations with Germany for collaboration.

The German-controlled Paris press has been insistent lately that collaboration include military as well as political and economic matters, and has urged that such cooperation especially be extended to cover the defense of Dakar on the western "hump" of Africa and other strategic points in French Africa.

All members of the government were raised to ministerial rank by the new decree. Some of them previously had held the rank only of state secretary.

The government now is composed of eight ministers: Admiral Darlan, national defense, foreign affairs and navy. Gen. Charles Huntziger, war. Joseph Barthelmy, justice.

Pierre Fucheu, interior. (Formerly the secretary of that department.)

Yves Bouthillier, national economy and finance.

Pierre Caziot, agriculture.

Henry Moysset, minister of state (formerly a secretary of state).

Lucien Romier, minister of state.

$40,000 Jewel Robbery
Greenwich, Conn., Aug. 12 (AP)—Police today revealed that a $40,000 jewel robbery had been committed on the extensive estate here of Mrs. Vera M. Gerli, widow of Emmanuel Gerli, wealthy New York silk importer, presumably some time yesterday. Police Chief John M. Gleason, who immediately began interrogation of nearly a score of servants and workmen about the Taconic road estate, said Mrs. Gerli told him she first noticed her black jewel case missing when she returned yesterday afternoon from a war relief activity.

Russia Has Plan to Join Slavic Folk

Kremlin's Program Is to Unite for Purpose of Ending Fascism of Germany

Once Was Killed

Panslavism Discarded When Bolsheviks Took Power

Moscow, Aug. 12 (AP)—Soviet Russia, in an effort to unite all Slavs against Germany, has come forward with a broad proposal of self-rule by Slavonic peoples scattered over the face of Europe and part of Asia.

The Kremlin's program, which contracts sharply with the ancient doctrine of Panslavism whereby Slavs would have a large measure of political solidarity, was advanced at a current Moscow meeting of representatives of various Slav states.

"The hour has struck when the whole Slav world must unite for the earliest and final destruction of German Fascism," said a Soviet statement addressed to all Slavs.

"We are uniting like equals with equals. We have a common purpose and a common goal—smashing Hitler's armies and the destruction of Hitlerism."

In advancing the Soviet program, it said however:

"We have a common, passionate and all-embracing aspiration—that Slav as well as other peoples could peacefully and freely develop within their state systems."

"We resolutely and firmly reject the very idea of Panslavism, as a thoroughly reactionary trend profoundly hostile to the lofty purpose of the equality of peoples and national development of all states, which was utilized by Russian tsarism for its imperialistic aims."

The Soviet policy was enunciated at the Moscow meeting by Alexei Tolstoy, author and grandson of Novelist Count Leo Tolstoy. He spoke as representative of Russia to Russians, Ukrainians, White Russians, Poles, Czechs, Slovaks, Serbs, Croats, Slovenes, Bulgarians, Macedonians, Carpathians and Montenegrins.

Panslavism, with which the czars toyed and about which they did little, went out of the window when the Bolsheviks seized power in Russia.

This doctrine, that all Slavonic peoples should have as large a measure as possible of political solidarity, came to the fore prominently in the 17th Century as the result of the work of a Croat Catholic priest, Jurij Kirizanic.

Slav political unity had been broken thousands of years earlier by the Magyar invasion of the Danubian plains in the 9th Century. This introduced a wedge of Asiatic origin between east, west and South Slavs which has lasted to this day.

Russian czars from Peter the Great on down to Anne, Catherine II and Alexander I always had the ideal of Panslavism in view as an instrument of political expansion, but in their diplomatic relations with Turkey, Austria and Prussia they often were compromised which seriously restricted its realization.

The World War completely changed the Slavonic question and the upheaval in Russia put an effective end to that country's leadership in the matter.

Defense Enrollment Begins This Evening

Three days this week, beginning today, have been proclaimed by Mayor Heiselman National Defense Registration Days for citizens of Kingston.

A complete list of polling places in all wards was given in last evening's Freeman with the exception of one in the Fifth Ward, which is Union Hose Co. on East Union street.

Registration offices will be open this evening, Wednesday and Thursday, from 7 p. m. to 9 p. m.

Schwartz to Confer on Steps to Halt Further Outbursts at Pleasure Park

District Attorney Schwartz of Dutchess county said this morning he will confer with Sheriff Fred Close at Poughkeepsie to determine what steps should be taken to prevent a repetition of the outbreak at Woodcliff Park Sunday when a colored excursion group and a picnic group from a local Polish church fought for the right to use facilities at the park.

Owners of the park will be called into a later conference, the district attorney said, after he confers with the sheriff and some definite plan will be formed to prevent another such occurrence.

"I can't say yet what steps will be taken," said District Attorney Schwartz, "but I know definitely that we will see that nothing like that outbreak of Sunday happens again."

A group of 52 policemen including state police, Poughkeepsie police and deputy sheriffs was summoned on the riot call Sunday and most of them remained at the park until the excursion boat, which brought the 3,000 negroes from New York, returned Sunday evening.

The negroes arrived after an estimated 1,500 men, women and children of St. Joseph's Church in Poughkeepsie had occupied all facilities at the park including the swimming pool and the Woodcliff Park Inn.

The authorities reported many fights and said that the negroes broke mirrors and furniture and tossed bottles and other discarded articles into the swimming pool.

Nazis Say Surrender of Odessa Is Certain; Developments in Far East Move Toward Crisis

Tokyo Newspaper Declares Japanese Will Forge Ahead

Kokumin Says Britain, U.S. Have Been Given Warning Nation Will Not Quit

Tokyo, Aug. 12 (AP)—The militarist daily, Kokumin, said today that the United States and Britain had been warned that any further anti-Japanese pressure by them would bring about "nothing but the worst situation" and that Japan will go ahead with grim resolve toward establishment of her sphere in East Asia.

Kokumin in its editorial said that special emphasis had been given the warning to the United States. (At the same time authoritative quarters in London declared "If Japan wants war in the Pacific there will be war, if she wants peace, there will be peace.")

The paper, professing that Japan's policy is being worked out along peaceful lines and that she has no aggressive designs, urged that the United States approach questions of the Far East calmly.

Britain is putting forth "frantic efforts to cause friction between the United States and Japan" and is resorting to all sorts of moves to disturb the peace of the Pacific, said the paper.

Kokumin compared Britain's policy to the grasp of a drowning man for a straw and said she had been on the verge of defeat by Germany for two years.

'Extremely Sorry'
In an evident reference to Thailand, the newspaper Yomiuri said "We are extremely sorry for any country joining the Anglo-American camp. If Anglo-Americans are only clamoring from a distance without serious intentions, countries which plunge into fire will only be sacrificed."

At the same time Koh Ishii, cabinet information bureau spokesman, expressed concern over United States shipments of war materials to Vladivostok, Soviet Far Eastern port.

Ishii's remarks plainly indicated that despite all surface indications of preoccupation with questions to the south, there are grave doubts in Japan regarding the Russian situation.

Here the Japanese concern was that the United States might convert Vladivostok into a "first line" of defense against Japan by shipping supplies which might never reach the Russians fighting Adolf Hitler in the west.

Situation Discussed
Reliable diplomatic circles believed that British Ambassador Sir Robert Leslie Craigie in a visit to Foreign Minister Teijiro Toyoda yesterday had plainly discussed the "serious situation" which might arise through any change in Thailand's status and might also have discussed the Russian situation.

Craigie's conversation lasted an hour and a half, and it was considered certain he had presented personally the message of Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden who last week warned that Britain is vitally concerned over the safety of Singapore.

Although United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew has not seen Toyoda since Secretary of State Hull voiced a warning in line with Eden's, there was little doubt that during a recent visit he had also put emphasis on subjects similar to those involved in Craigie's conversations.

Ishii's statement on United States shipments of war materials to Vladivostok came during his press conference. He said:

"Japan wishes that the United States would not send munitions."

Two British Aces Japan May Strike Are Missing; Each Has Great Record Of Driving South

Wing Commander Bader, Lieut. Lock Both Hold Special Distinguished Flying Awards

London, Aug. 12 (AP)—Wing Commander Douglas R. Bader, legless veteran of the battle of Britain who had been credited with shooting down 15 German planes, and acting Flight Lieutenant E. S. Lock, another ace credited with 30 victories, were reported missing today.

Bader, 30 years old, had won the distinguished service order and bar and distinguished flying cross with bar, an accomplishment achieved by only one other man in the service, A. G. Malan, a South African.

Lock, 21, called "Sawnoff Lockie," because he was so short, also was a holder of the distinguished service order and distinguished flying cross with bar. He gained nine of his victories in one week last September and was decorated at Buckingham Palace after undergoing 15 operations for burns suffered in a battle.

Bader had participated in many of the offensive sweeps of the R. A. F. over the channel and France. He lost both legs in a flying accident while serving with the R. A. F. in 1931. After proving that he could fly with artificial limbs, he managed to re-enter the service after the start of the war and participated in many daring raids.

In one night during the height of the Luftwaffe's blitz against Britain last September his squadron was credited with bringing down 14 Nazi planes.

Subsequently he was awarded the distinguished flying order for the exploit in which not a single bullet was said to have found its mark in any of his Hurricanes.

Although Bader headed an all-Canadian squadron, he was a native of London, his mother, Mrs. E. W. Hobbs of Sprotborough, near Doncaster, on being notified he was missing, had the announcement made to the villagers.

Apologies Offered
Tokyo, Aug. 12 (AP)—The foreign office announced today Ecuador had offered apologies through Japanese Minister Tsuneko Yanai for recent anti-Japanese activities in Ecuador.

Basis Would Be That U. S. Would Be Less Likely to Intervene; Envoy Tells of Feeling

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Freeman Special News Service)

There is little doubt that Japan is seriously considering the expediency of attacking Russia in Siberia, on the basis that this would be less likely to draw armed intervention by the United States than would an attempt at expansion southward from the powerful new Japanese base in French Indochina.

Fear of the United States, rather than of preoccupied Britain, has been the chief deterrent to Japanese action thus far. This reluctance to antagonize Uncle Sam into drawing his shooting irons could hardly have been otherwise than strengthened by the remarkable warning which Kaname Wakasugi, Japanese minister to Washington, gave his people yesterday.

Mr. Wakasugi, who was at Los Angeles enroute to Tokyo, declared in a trans-Pacific telephone interview that "the United States is prepared and determined to meet the worst eventualities." On the face of it, the minister's statement seemed calculated to have a restraining influence.

Plays Opportunist Game
However, while Nippon definitely doesn't want to measure strength with us, she is playing an opportunist game quite openly. A quick swing of fortune toward the Axis in the European war might impel her to risk American anger, though there is reason to hope that things may not reach such a pass.

The Russo-German conflict is the gauge most likely to give us an accurate indication of the danger in the Far Eastern crisis. A Japanese break through the Red defenses might set the Japanese war machine to rolling across the Manchukuoan border against the Bolsheviks.

For this reason the present Hitlerian gains against the Red flanks, especially in the Ukraine, must be regarded as strong encouragement to the Japanese to capitalize the position. In this sense the imbroglio in the Orient is pivoting on the Russo-German war.

Germans Report Six Soviet Transports Are Sunk, All Escape Is Cut Off

War Is Promised

London Says if Japan Desires War, She Will Get It

(By The Associated Press)
German military dispatches pictured Russia's big Black Sea port of Odessa as doomed to quick surrender today, with Nazi troops storming down both sides of the Bug river and Red army forces desperately attempting to escape by sea.

DNB, the official German news agency, reported German bombers already had sunk six troop-laden Russian transports off the Ukraine coast near Odessa.

The Germans declared inland avenue of escape from both Odessa and Ochakov, further east, had been virtually cut off.

In the Far East crisis, a series of swift-breaking developments indicated that events were moving inexorably nearer the explosion-point.

In London, authoritative quarters declared bluntly that "if Japan wants war in the Pacific there will be war, if she wants peace there will be peace."

In Tokyo, the militarist newspaper Kokumin said the United States and Great Britain had been warned that any further anti-Japanese pressure would bring about "nothing but the worst situation" and that Japan was bent on pushing ahead with her new order in East Asia.

Second Session Called
In Melbourne, Australia's Prime Minister Robert G. Menzies called his war cabinet into a second extraordinary session, and opposition leader J. H. Curtin commented solemnly:

"The time has come when Australia asks loyal and devoted service from her sons. I put it as plainly as I can to every Australian that the safety of this country is at stake."

In Washington, Senator George (D., Ga.), ranking member of the Senate foreign relations committee said "it definitely is in the range of possibility" that the United States might break off all commercial relations with Japan.

Shanghai, Japanese army spokesman Lieut. Col. Kunio Akimura declared his government was gravely concerned over the possibility that Russia's big Pacific port of Vladivostok might become "America's first line of defense against Japan."

"With the United States following a virtual policy of encirclement of Japan, it is only natural that Japan is concerned that American arms and munitions might reach the Soviet Siberian forces," he said.

Akiyama asserted that current Japanese military preparations in Manchukuo, where upward of 500,000 Japanese troops are reported massing along the Soviet frontier, were "purely defensive."

On the Russo-German war front, Moscow, conceded that the Red armies were hard-pressed on both flanks in the 52-day-old struggle.

Advices reaching London further emphasized the critical plight of Soviet Marshal Semyon Budenny's army of the south, reporting that Adolf Hitler had thrown perhaps 1,000,000 troops into the Ukraine conflict and that German armored forces had advanced within 40 miles of the big grain and shipbuilding port of Nikolaevo, about 65 miles east of Odessa.

Authoritative London quarters said the main German onslaught was developing from the Uman sector, midway between Odessa and Kiev, where the Nazis last

Pershing Tumbles

General's Statue Blown Down in France by Sudden Storm

Versailles, German-occupied France, Aug. 11 (Delayed) (AP)—The statue of General John J. Pershing in Lafayette Park tumbled from its pedestal during a violent summer storm today and was smashed into hundreds of pieces.

A statue of Lafayette, facing Pershing on the other side of the highway remained standing.

The two figures, forming one of the best known American memorials in France, commemorate the formation of the Lafayette Escadrille during the World War.

The park is between Versailles and Ville-d'Avray.

Rayburn Expects Extension Will Pass in House

Extra 18-Month Service for Army's Enlistment and Selectees Is Seen as Sure

Washington, Aug. 12 (AP)—Speaker Rayburn and other Democratic leaders expressed confidence today that the House would approve an 18-month extension of service for the army's rank and file.

Rayburn previously had expressed concern over the vote on Senate-approved legislation but now, he said, "I believe the situation is all right."

It was learned that Democratic sponsors of the extension believed that reports of German successes against Russia and a serious Far Eastern situation would make votes for the legislation.

Opening the last 90 minutes of general debate on the legislation, Rep. Elston (R., Ohio) argued that the nation was not in greater peril than a year ago and therefore there was no need for the extension of service.

Has Highest Regard

Elston said that he had the highest regard for General George C. Marshall, army chief of staff, who recommended that Congress lift the limitation of service restriction and a prohibition against use of the rank and file outside the western hemisphere. But Marshall takes orders from Secretary of War Stimson, the representative added.

Rep. Faddis (D., Pa.) told the House he received a letter this morning "warning me to be careful of my political scalp in my vote on this legislation." He shouted: "My God, what have we come to, that we hear that a member of this body may weigh the security of his nation against his own political future?"

Elston said failure of the legislative branch to follow recommendations of military experts had led to some of the nation's "most unfortunate military experiences."

A group of House Democrats claiming at least 25 votes drafted an amendment to the extension bill which would exempt from service after December 31, 1942, any men called to arms before Congress takes final action on the legislation.

Representative Eliot (D., Mass.) will offer the modification and others in the group stated that unless the House approved it they would oppose extension of service.

The nucleus of 25 votes, Representative Downes (D., Conn.) said, might serve as a sufficient number to defeat any extension of service sought by President Roosevelt unless their proposal were adopted.

Among the members backing the Eliot amendment were Representatives Maciora (D., Conn.), Fogarty (D., R. I.), Weiss (D., Pa.), Scanlon (D., Pa.), Sikes (D., Fla.) and Anderson (D., N. M.), Downes said.

Mongrel Dog Is Found Rabid in Town of Ulster

Last week a large stray mongrel dog invaded the summer camp of William A. Van Valkenburgh at Lake Katrine and bit the Van Valkenburgh dog so severely that it had to be shot. The stray dog was also shot, and the head sent to the state laboratory in Albany. Saturday a report from the laboratory revealed that the stray animal was a rabid dog.

Dr. Philip Pooley of this city, who treated the Van Valkenburgh dog, advised that the animal be shot as it had been so severely torn by the stray mongrel.

The mongrel dog was one of the largest seen in the town of Ulster in some time and it was so heavy that after it had been shot it required the services of two men to handle the carcass and bury it.

Dr. C. L. Gannon of Green street, who is health officer of the town of Ulster, said today that the town had been under rabies quarantine for some time. This was the first positive case of rabies that had been reported to him this year, he said.

Odessa Surrender Is Held Certain

week reported the slaughter of 200,000 Red Army troops. Advance called "impetuous" DNB described the German advance as "impetuous," with swift-moving panzer columns throwing a gigantic net around Odessa, main base of the Russian Black Sea fleet.

Battle maps issued in Berlin showed the Nazi push forming a huge bulge deep into the southern Ukraine, below Kiev, and Nazi front-line dispatches asserted German troops also were closing in on the Ukraine capital.

Violent aerial battles were reported raging over the blood-drenched field as Soviet warplanes smashed at German infantry and motorized forces and Nazi pursuit planes attempted to fight them off. DNB said Luftwaffe fighters bagged 27 Russian planes in the Kiev region alone this morning.

All major arteries behind the Soviet lines in the southern Ukraine were reported jammed with retreating Red Army troops, under failing attack by German warplanes. The Germans said rail traffic was disrupted, with seven trains derailed or damaged in a single sector.

Berlin dispatches said German troops were advancing on Kiev from rolling along "well-packed broad highways leading straight to the city."

No Mention of Odessa

The Russians made no mention of Odessa. They declared the Red army still holding firm in the Smolensk salient as fighting there went into its 28th day, and in the Bel Tserkov sector 50 miles south of Kiev.

A Moscow communique said the Red Army was putting up a stubborn fight against strong German drives on the north and south flanks—in the Soltsi sector 120 miles south of Leningrad and the Uman area midway between Kiev and Odessa.

The Germans acknowledged a new Russian raid on Berlin last night but said only two planes reached the general region of the capital.

The Russians said fires were started in their bombing of central Berlin the night before. Moscow also was raided last night—its 17th air attack—but the Russians said it was one of the shortest and weakest their capital had experienced.

The Russians said 60 to 70 German and Finnish planes struck at the far northern port of Murmansk in the 31st attack there. The Red air fleet reported bombing shipping at Constanta and wrecking a big Danube railway bridge on the oil shipment line from Romania to Germany at the Rumanian town of Cerna-Voda.

British planes again raided western Germany overnight.

After pounding the German industrial towns of Krefeld, Munchen-Gladbach and Reydert during the night, waves of R. A. F. daylight raiders flamed across the English Channel this noon to attack German-occupied northern France.

Dispatches from Vichy, meanwhile, said Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan had gained full military power over unoccupied France. Informed circles were still silent on France's international policy, notably on the question of whether Vichy would permit German "collaboration" in the defense of Dakar and other French African territory.

Japan desires peace in the Pacific and so Japan is watching such shipments with urgent concern."

An American correspondent asked whether it would make any difference to Japan whether war supplies for the Soviet were carried in United States or Russian freighters, and Ishii replied:

Ishii fended off questions about the movement of Japanese forces into Indo-China by saying he could not discuss military matters, but added:

"I understand it is completed."

Knox, Korndorff Confer on Strike

to be held at Chicago Thursday to discuss the demands of union railroadmen for wage increases affecting approximately 1,150,000 workers. Spokesmen for the carriers assert that the wage demands represent a potential payroll increase of about $900,000,000 a year—a boost which they declare would place an intolerable burden on the railroads.

The U. S. Conciliation Service has invited representatives of the Mack Manufacturing Company, Allentown, Pa., and striking C. I. O. employees to a Washington conference Friday to discuss the wage dispute which brought on the walkout. The company has orders for several million dollars worth of gun carriages, tank parts and trucks for the army.

The strikers contend that the company has refused to agree to make August 4 the retroactive date for a demanded increase of 15 cents an hour in wages. The current wage scale ranges from 64 to 95 cents an hour.

Hampers Operations

An A. F. L.-called strike continued to hamper operations at the Curtiss-Wright corporation propeller division at Caldwell, N. J. The union claimed that only 50 of 800 day shift production men passed the picket line yesterday, but the company insisted that the plant was open and operating.

When the A. F. L. union demanded a wage boost of 20 cents an hour, the company refused. The only union with which it could bargain was Propeller Craft, an independent union which won a collective bargaining election last week. The management declared the average earnings of its employees were $50.07 weekly.

Several current labor disputes involved workmen in the South. About 2,500 employees of the Erwin cotton mill at Erwin, N. C., struck yesterday, protesting, they said, against an increased work load. They specified that an attempt was made to require workers to operate two machines instead of one. The company, however, declared there had been no increase in the work load.

At Camp Lee, Va., 1,500 A. F. L. carpenters asked to have the wage scale raised from $1 to $1.12½ an hour. The request was discussed by army officials and representatives of the union and two contractors, then referred to the quartermaster-general's office for decision. A union spokesman said there would be no strike pending that decision.

M. O. Dabbs, president of a C. I. O. local at the Pullman-Standard Car Manufacturing Co., Bessemer, Ala., said last night that the union had voted not to return to work today. He said he thought the company had had sufficient time to act on a contract presented two weeks ago. The suggested contract called for a 10-cent hourly wage increase, check-off system and collective bargaining rights. Dabbs said the present minimum scale is 48½ cents an hour.

Disputes from Vichy, meanwhile, said Vice Premier Admiral Jean Darlan had gained full military power over unoccupied France. Informed circles were still silent on France's international policy, notably on the question of whether Vichy would permit German "collaboration" in the defense of Dakar and other French African territory.

The cooperative movement has been an important factor in improving agricultural conditions in Thailand (Siam).

New York, Aug. 12 (AP)—The stock market had moments today when it looked as though it would work up a little recovery fever but few issues actually made much headway.

While favorites managed to hold on to modest improvement acquired in early dealings, fractional declines were the rule near the final hour. There was a handful of wider losses. The pace was slow throughout, with transfers at the rate of about 450,000 shares.

The inflation theme was dimmed as a market factor when the administration moved to slap stringent curbs on installment selling. In addition, these handicaps persisted: The Far Eastern crisis, pessimistic German-Russian war bulletins, fears of spreading governmental controls and worries over mounting taxes.

Commodities weakened, with cotton off around $2 a bale. Bonds were irregularly lower.

Among finance company issues hit by the installment ruling were Beneficial Industrial Loan, Commercial Investment Trust, Commercial Credit and Household Finance, some of which conceded 2 points or so, at new 1941 lows. Most steel, motor, rail, oils and cottons drifted indifferently.

Resistance was shown by Santa Fe, U. S. Rubber, Texas Corp., Sears Roebuck and Western Union.

Charge Is Filed

Houston, Tex., Aug. 12 (AP)—An extortion charge was filed against a 64-year-old man who, F. B. I. agents said, threatened to blow up Southern Pacific railroad property, if he wasn't paid $25,000.

Officers said they arrested Richard Edward Hudson of Austin Saturday as he arrived at the airport where J. T. Munroe, Southern Pacific passenger traffic manager, had left a dummy package.

Schmidt Is Held On U. S. Warrant

Man Was Deported During First World War, Faces Second Ouster

Detroit, Aug. 12 (AP)—Carl Julius Schmidt, once deported to Germany as a member of the Kaltenbach dynamiting ring that furnished Detroit's most exciting sabotage trial during the first World War period, was arrested here yesterday on an immigration warrant, it was revealed today, and again faces deportation.

John Zurburk, district immigration inspector said Schmidt was arrested at the plant of the Nash-Kelvinator Corp., where he was employed, on a warrant issued in Washington by Lemuel B. Schofield, special assistant attorney general.

Schmidt, who was convicted of plotting to dynamite an industrial plant in Detroit in 1922 after serving two years in the federal penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kans. He reentered the United States August 30, 1923 when he deserted a ship in New York harbor.

However, the charge on which he was arrested was based on a theft in violation of the interstate commerce act to which he pleaded guilty in March, 1918 and paid a $75 fine. Immigration authorities charge the theft was a crime involving moral turpitude and a valid basis for the new deportation proceedings.

Schmidt was convicted late in 1917 of plotting to dynamite an industrial plant in Detroit and several strategic plants, bridges and tunnels and an army in Canada. U. S. District Judge Arthur F. Lederle sentenced him to two years in the penitentiary at Leavenworth, Kans., and ordered him to pay a $10,000 fine.

Warrant Issued In Accident Case

Legal Paper Puts Charge Against Merrihew

Justice Percy Bush of the town of Ulster has issued a warrant for the arrest of Isaac Merrihew of 151 O'Neill street, charging criminal negligence in the operation of a motor vehicle, the charge arising out of the automobile accident on Route 9-W, near the Rose Marie cabins, on the night of July 29, in which Miss Kathryn Roach of The Bronx was fatally injured.

The warrant was issued on information signed by James P. Roach, father of the girl. It was understood that the warrant would be executed this afternoon by Sergeant Cunningham and that a hearing in the case would be had before Justice Bush tonight at 7 o'clock. A similar charge against Mr. Merrihew, also preferred by Mr. Roach, was withdrawn at a previous hearing before Justice Bush.

There also will be a hearing tonight, before Justice Bush, in the case against Dorothy Brady of Brooklyn, driver of the car in which Miss Roach was riding at the time of the accident. She, too, is charged with criminal negligence on information laid by Trooper George of the B. C. I.

John W. DeWitt is attorney for Miss Brady and for Mr. Roach. Louis G. Bruhn represents Mr. Merrihew and Richard Overbagh will represent The People in the action against Miss Brady.

Four Are Hurt At Marbletown

Car Leaves Road, Crashes Into Pole; Are Taken to Local Hospital

Four persons were injured, but not seriously, early this afternoon, when a car presumably driven by Saul Markoff of 960 Grand Concourse, the Bronx, left the highway at the top of the Marbletown hill on the Kingston-Ellenville road, and crashed into a pole.

All four were removed to the Kingston Hospital in the Conner ambulance where their injuries were dressed by Dr. C. B. Van Gaasbeck and they then left the hospital.

According to the deputy sheriffs who arrived on the scene soon after the tire marks on the highway showed that the car had started leaving the road at the top of the hill and then traveled some 200 feet on the bank and crashed into a pole.

An operator's license issued to Saul Markoff was found at the scene of the wrecked car.

The four treated at the hospital were Mr. Markoff, his wife; Mrs. M. Dullick and her husband, M. Dullick, of 5 Riverside Drive.

A. L. P. Will Meet

It is expected that the American Labor party will meet tonight to name a ticket for the November election. The deadline for filing petitions for nominations is midnight tonight, and while the Republican and Democratic party have filed, the Labor party as yet has failed to take action.

Strike Declared By Local No. 76-B 'Furniture' Union

Officials of the United Furniture Workers Union announced today that the Made Right Radio Cabinet Co., was declared on strike by Local 76-B of the U. F. W. U., and that the union was "sending a committee of strikers" to Chichester where the New York concern is expected to open a factory.

It could not be learned today, however, whether or not activities of the union would interfere with the scheduled opening of the former Schwarzwaelder plant which has been inactive for some time, and which is expected to house a branch of the Made Right Radio Cabinet Co.

Officials of the union appeared before the Shandaken Town Board August 6 in an effort to acquaint the town officials and prospective workers of Chichester and vicinity with the controversial issues involved between the Made Right Radio Cabinet Co., of New York and local 76-B of the U. F. W. U., which has a contract with the New York company for a year.

Finland Is Nation of Autos Which Run on Wood Gas

If You Run Out of Gas You Chop a New Piece of Wood; Then You Can Go Again

By LOUIS P. LOCHNER
(Freeman Special News Service)

Berlin, Aug. 12.—Silhouettes of a trip to Finland:
The absence of men and the consequent preponderance of women on the farms impress on the visitor to southwestern Finland that the little nation again is fighting a bitter fight.

A plane which took a group of foreign newspapermen from Berlin to Finland was not permitted to take the usual route to Helsinki or Turku, but was directed farther northward to Porvoo, one of the older Finnish cities on the Gulf of Bothnia.

As we alighted from the plane, air raid sirens were just advising the population that all was clear once again.

The 175-mile drive by automobile to Helsinki was like crossing through a midwest agricultural section in Ohio, Indiana, Illinois or Wisconsin, but what cars! Finland, shut off from the world, must ration her gasoline most carefully, with the result that even the mightiest of United States-made cars must carry at the rear an unsightly contraption looking like a crude boiler.

Wood-Burning Cars
These are wood-burning furnaces converting their energy into what is known as "wood gas."

You go on a trip with lumber piled on the rear end of your car which you feed from time to time into the boilerlike contraption which is connected with the carburetor by a pipeline.

If you are out of lumber, you just stop at one of the many forests in which Finland abounds, and cut yourself enough wood to enable your flivver to proceed.

As you pass farms, you see in the fields almost only women, gathering in a harvest which promises to be unusually good. However, one officer told me "next winter will be difficult because of the lack of food."

Crops are placed in wooden barns of the same style architecture as those in the United States. Most of them are painted cardinal red, with eaves, windows and door frames white. Farmhouses, too, are preponderantly red.

In little towns as well as big cities, you're struck by the number of women in bluish gray uniform. They are Finland's "Lottas," members of a group of some 120,000 women of all ages, who are taking men's jobs behind the scenes.

Pass through the tiniest Finnish village and you invariably see the graves of soldiers who fell during the Finnish-Russian war of the winter of 1939-40.

Rationing System
A strict rationing system has been introduced for food, clothing, and other necessities. The Finns, however, are frugal people, so that the absence of luxuries doesn't seem to bother them.

Finland's streams, lakes and innumerable sea estuaries provide plenty of fish, crabs and other seafood.

Scarcely had we arrived in Helsinki when the sirens warned of approaching Russian aircraft. However, no Russian planes flew over the city.

We were impressed with the thoroughness with which the Finns have arranged air raid protection. The fact that the capital is built on hard rock and its cliffs gives her natural advantages which a city built on sand, like Berlin, lacks.

Up-to-date shelters have been hewn deep into rock below the fire department, city hall, city hospital and other institutions.

Fortifications on Finnish islands which were shown to us appeared fully on a par with those I have seen in the Maginot, Siegfried, Metaxas and Stalin lines.

Housewives Protest

Milk Price Increase

New York, Aug. 12 (AP).—A protest campaign by New York city housewives against a proposed milk price increase was begun today by the milk consumers protective committee which urged its members to protest directly to President Roosevelt.

Mrs. Helen Lea, committee executive secretary, said that the organization would sponsor mass meetings here Friday night at which business men and consumer groups would oppose a plan attributed to the big milk companies to raise the milk price 2½ or 3 cents a quart.

The committee sent this notice to business firms and social groups:
"Consumers have consistently supported the farmers' efforts to secure an adequate income from their milk. This can be done by lower fluid milk prices, resulting in increased consumption, and by reducing the middleman monopoly profits. Because of the war situation, the milk trust speculators want less milk used as fluid, so as to have more to manufacture into condensed and evaporated milk for shipment abroad at tremendous profits to them."

Enough Work Even for Bill
New Brighton, Minn. (AP).—Ver-satile Bill Bona, who makes the guy in the one-man band look like a piker, thinks maybe he's going to be busy. Bill is New Brighton's one man police force, fire chief, street commissioner, repairman, assistant health officer, town hall custodian, street cleaner, official weed cutter and pinch-hitter for a number of other municipal chores. A $30,000,000 small arms defense plant, now under construction, will bring 15,000 persons and a pack of responsibilities to New Brighton, community of 800. City fathers are considering a little help for Bill.

Death Is Accidental

Portland, Me., Aug. 12 (AP).—A county medical examiner, Wilbur F. Leighton today described as accidental the death of Albert H. Weisgerber, 56, of Mount Vernon, N. Y., secretary and treasurer of the Portland Pipe Line Company. Weisgerber's body was found in his hotel room yesterday, the larger artery of one leg cut, apparently from an accidental fall on a water glass. Weisgerber was in charge of the Portland office of the company, which is constructing an oil pipe line from South Portland to Montreal.

Lack of vitamin C in the diet may cause flappings pains in the joints, sometimes mistaken for rheumatism; slow healing of wounds; or tender, bleeding gums.

RICHARD WHITNEY QUILTS SING SING

Richard Whitney, former president of the New York Stock Exchange, leaves Sing Sing prison, Ossining, N. Y., on parole after serving three years and four months of a 5-to-10-year sentence for stealing $214,000 from brokerage client accounts. He will superintend a dairy farm near Barnstable, Mass., on Cape Cod.

Whitney Takes Up New Life as Farm Manager

Barnstable, Mass., Aug. 12 (AP).—Richard Whitney, who once dealt in millions as a broker and president of the New York Stock Exchange, began work today as a $25-a-week superintendent of a small Cape Cod farm after serving 40 months in New York's Sing Sing prison.

The former financier, whose Wall Street firm collapsed in 1938 with losses estimated at $11,000,000, arrived yesterday—not long after he had been released from prison—to rule over a peaceful seaside tract of 300 acres.

Whitney was greeted on the porch of the big 12-room farmhouse by his wife and 22-year-old daughter, Alice. He brought with him approximately $193, including a rehabilitation fee of $20, the $163.36 he earned as a prisoner and $9.50 he had when he entered the institution.

A splendid prison record had whittled his confinement. He was sentenced originally to five to ten years for grand larceny. He must report once a month, until August 12, 1948, to the Massachusetts board of corrections. The report will be forwarded regularly to New York authorities.

He will have as his associate in the operation of the farm, Emanuel Souzan, lifelong caretaker under the will of a former owner.

Lights Are Repaired

The lighting equipment of the Pan-American traveling whale show, penguin exhibit and flea circus, now stationed at the railroad siding on Greenkill avenue was out for a time last night. It was repaired later. The show will be in town for public inspection until 11 p. m. today.

Street Job Completed

Work of retreading East O'Reilly street for its entire length was started today by employees of the Board of Public Works. The work of retreading Delaware avenue, between Murray and Abruy streets, has been completed.

OLIVE BRIDGE

Olive Bridge, Aug. 12.—Mr. and Mrs. James D. Waters, Jr., and six-months-old son, of Savannah, Ga., are spending their vacation with Mrs. Waters' parents, the Rev. and Mrs. A. Bernard Eaton. James David Waters, III, six-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Waters, Jr., and grandson of the Rev. and Mrs. A. Bernard Eaton, was baptized Sunday morning at Olive Bridge Methodist Church, of which the Rev. Mr. Eaton is pastor.

Arthur Davis will return home today after spending a little time at the hospital in Kingston where he underwent a slight operation.

Mrs. Martin Thompson was received into the fellowship of the Olive Bridge Methodist Church at the morning service Sunday.

The Ladies' Aid Society of the Olive Bridge Methodist Church will hold its annual chicken supper and fair on Thursday evening. Supper will be served at 6 o'clock. There will be fancy articles for sale.

Mrs. Theodore Ackert is acting superintendent of the church school during the absence of Mrs. Ezra Silkworth.

Red Cross Cargo Reaches Egypt

The American Red Cross committee in Great Britain has been notified of the arrival at Cairo, Egypt, of $500,000 worth of medical supplies and blankets shipped from the United States.

Included in the shipment are more than 5,000,000 surgical dressings produced by American Red Cross chapter volunteers. Other supplies which have arrived are 90,000 blankets, hospital clothing, drugs and other hospital essentials. Red Crescent, the Egyptian Red Cross Society, is now engaged in the distribution of 30,000 sacks of flour and large quantities of other food stuffs previously shipped by the American Red Cross for the relief of civilians who have fled air raids on Alexandria.

Dublin has restricted the use of gas in illuminated advertising signs.

DUFF COOPER ARRIVES IN U. S.

Alfred Duff Cooper, former British minister of information, and his wife, Lady Diana Duff Cooper, walk along New York's marine air terminal with their 11-year-old son, John Julius, who greeted his parents on their arrival by trans-Atlantic Clipper. Cooper said he was on a mission to Singapore to co-ordinate colonial administration. He declared his government expected "great developments in the Far East." Young Cooper attends school in Toronto, Canada.

KRUMVILLE

Krumville, Aug. 12.—Last Tuesday Mrs. Clara Allen of Brooklyn came to spend a few weeks as the guest of the Rev. and Mrs. William H. Barringer at the parsonage.

Mr. and Mrs. Hasbrouck Christiana and daughter, Wendy, of Brookfield, are guests of Mrs. Christiana's parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. A. Hansen.

There were about 80 present here at the annual Davis reunion last Saturday.

The pastor reports there were 50 people present at the special evening service at the Lyonsville church last Sunday evening. It is expected there will be a special evening service there the second Sunday evening of each month until cold weather.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenford Davis are repairing and cleaning part of the house of the old Davis homestead on the corner, where they soon expect to move.

The regular monthly meeting of the Ladies' Aid Society will meet Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, when plans will be completed to arrange for their annual sale and supper to be held the 28th of this month.

The Rev. Harry Christiana of Fultonville visited at the parsonage last Thursday and also called on many of his relatives and friends here.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Vollmer last week enjoyed their vacation and took many short trips during the week.

Lois Gray of Olive Bridge has been spending many days at the home of her grandmother.

The Rev. and Mrs. William H. Barringer and Mrs. Clara Allen of Brooklyn left Monday morning for Camp Pinnacle in the Helderbergs. This is a Bible school, camp meeting and rest camp. Mrs. Barringer and Mrs. Allen expect to spend a week here and the Rev. Mr. Barringer expects to return home the middle of the week.

Many from here attended the annual family gathering of the Christiana family last Sunday held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Christiana at Mombaccus.

Church school next Sunday morning will be held at 10 o'clock. Morning divine worship service will be at 11 o'clock with the guest speaker the Rev. Harry Christiana of Fultonville in charge. The Rev. Mr. Christiana grew up in this community and at one time served as pastor of the Krumville and Lyonsville churches.

Woman With Dignity Is Given Real Funeral

Kansas City, Aug. 12 (AP).—Mrs. Emma Jeffers had a real funeral, music, flowers and all.

She lived on a pension of $15.60 monthly. With $6 for rent, there was little left for other necessities and none for savings.

But, commented one of her neighbors:

"She was a woman of great dignity. She was clean and her clothes always were just right."

"I know there must have been times when she went without food, but she never complained. And you didn't dare offer to help her. There was too much dignity about her."

"There are times when a body has to skip a bit, but there are times when a body can splurge," smiled Mrs. Jeffers two weeks ago after the postman brought her check.

"I'm going to get me a bottle of rich cold milk and a loaf of fresh bread. I'm going to feast."

And she walked down the street to the store.

But Mrs. Jeffers never feasted. They found her, crumpled on the sidewalk, the cold milk in a puddle on the concrete—a stroke, doctors said.

The next day, folks huddled quietly at her modest room.

"Emma Jeffers," said Mamie Thompson quietly, "was never meant for Potter's Field."

Frank Crandall finally spoke the thing that was on all their minds. Nickels and dimes come the hard way for most of the neighbors, and it took several days, but everyone gave cheerfully.

It all came to $82.

So yesterday Mrs. Jeffers, a corsage of asters at her breast, clad in a rose gown, had 50 of the neighbors around her again in the funeral chapel. Most of them were women, the men couldn't afford to leave their jobs.

There were songs, on a phonograph, and they carried Mrs. Jeffers off to beautiful Greenlawn cemetery.

Pickets Still at Work

A picket line is still being maintained in front of the dress factories of the Country Clubs Frocks and the Excelsior Manufacturing Company, in the Servicer Building, Broadway and Pine Grove avenue. The picket line was placed on duty on May 5, and work of picketing the plants has continued without interruption.

Somebody's got to STEER IT!

Democracy is rule by the PEOPLE. But rule by uninformed or mistaken people isn't democracy; that is mob rule. Now, what newspapers are for is to inform the PEOPLE.

Browder ran for President last year. He advocated "Dictatorship of the Proletariat," Communism. Most Americans think that this Russian brand of government is akin to mob rule. However, Browder's candor and his speeches were duly reported in the press.

Roosevelt ran for President, too. He advocated HIS political views. Many disagreed with him, but many also agreed. You read about him on every front page.

Willkie ran for President. He disagreed with Roosevelt on many points, AGREED on many others. Most Americans decided to choose between Willkie and Roosevelt. Willkie's ideas were also printed.

All during the election campaign Americans were trying to decide which man's ideas were right. We were NOT trying to decide whose mob was biggest!

What your newspaper is for is to TELL what OTHER PEOPLE do and say and think. "Other people" may be the editors or politicians or other citizens or foreign visitors.

After you have been TOLD, your duty is to choose which way you will STEER.

In America we believe that the people—PROVIDED THEY ARE FULLY INFORMED—will be right more often than any one person is right. That is Democracy.

Democracy doesn't stop with picking the right political candidates or favoring the right laws. YOU, a citizen of a Democracy, have the right to decide how, when and where you shall spend your money. Here is Store A. It tells you what it has to offer—in its advertisements in the paper.

Here is Store B. It also tells you what it has to sell, URGES you to buy its wares. Again, yours is the privilege of DECIDING. You aren't FORCED—by ANYBODY—to buy something which you do not want or need, from ANY store.

So, you see, we have democracy—rule by informed people—in business as well as in politics.

The system doesn't always work perfectly. There isn't always enough news about government or enough advertising about goods and services. However, an IMPERFECT DEMOCRACY and IMPERFECT unbiased newspaper work better, we think, than anything dictatorship has to offer.

Each Tuesday the Newspaper Publishers Committee, 420 Lexington Avenue, New York, brings you one of these messages on the service your newspaper renders you. The circulation of today's message is over 10 million.

GHOST OF THE LEAGUE

Although the League of Nations is politically dead, a staff of experts is still at work in Geneva. They publish a monthly bulletin of statistics and even get out the current statistical year book. Weekly bulletins are issued reporting on important diseases by countries throughout the world, although such work today must be less accurate and complete than formerly. The clipper planes bring these reports to the United States for the use of our own Public Health Service.

Most surprising is the fact that treaties are still registered with the League by a few countries, including the United States of America, which has never been a member. Four countries have paid their dues for 1941.

As difficulties mount for these workers, there is talk of bringing them and their equipment to Washington, D. C. A number of bureaus have already moved. Most of the League's anti-opium work is now done from Washington. And studies in the economic, finance and transic fields have been transferred to Princeton University.

Perhaps, eventually, such activities will be organized under some other auspices. Their usefulness has been proved. But they do not constitute either a new League of Nations or the means of keeping the old one alive.

HOSIERY AND PATRIOTISM

Women are patriotic, all right, and have proved themselves capable of heroic sacrifice whenever and wherever there was need. Apparently they have not yet considered the silk stocking situation from this angle.

Before the official ban was put on use of silk for other than defense purposes, rumor that such a step was coming sent many women to the stocking counter. A reporter in New York City found that there was no special rush on hosiery, "except in the stores that catered to the wealthier class of shopper." In one or two such stores, a few customers were buying dozens of pairs of hosiery.

That, sister-citizens, is a fine way to hasten the day of the ration card. It is not exactly sporting, either, for it quickly diminishes the supply for all those other women and girls, including the office workers who need to be well groomed but who cannot afford to tie up much money in stockings for next spring.

The limit of stocking sales to three pairs to a customer, set up in many places, helped some, but probably didn't prevent the determined hoarder from making such purchases on several different days.

Here's a good chance to show calmness, economic good sense, fair play and patriotism. And the new lisle aren't going to be so hard to take, either.

A DUNKIRK FLEET

The Navy is organizing an auxiliary fleet of small craft along the Pacific Coast. The little fishing and pleasure boats are being mobilized by hundreds. The plan is to fit them with suitable guns if an emergency calling for their aid should arise. It is all being done on a volunteer basis.

The duties of the small boats in case of war would be to watch for submarines, intercept small boats attempting landings and be on the lookout for stray enemy aircraft. Some of them also will be able to sweep for mines.

The nickname "Dunkirk Fleet" is not given because of association with defeat, but because it was the heroic service of the small boats which turned the Dunkirk disaster into a glory of achievement.

Men between 17 and 50 are being inducted into this class, M-2 of the Merchant Marine Naval Reserve. They may go on active service at once, or wait on call.

Preparations like this are characteristically American. Useful, individual and free are these skippers of the small boats service.

FRENCH SHAVING SOAP

When a government gets started rationing items of natural use in the daily lives of its people it certainly ties itself up into knots. There's France, for instance, and the matter of shaving soap. If you are seventeen years old, you can get a shaving soap ration whether you need it or not. If you are not seventeen, you can't have any, even if you have whiskers.

Will it be toothpaste next? American housewives can be pretty thankful they don't have to take their clothes out to the nearest brook and pound them on the stones to get them clean. And American men can have all the shaving soaps and creams they want.

THE BUYING OF LOTS

All over the country people are buying vacant lots for future home building. Some of the houses are being built now, but other lots are simply being held for future use. The lot buying is said to be running 27 per cent ahead of building construction.

Some of the buyers, doubtless, are consciously providing themselves with a hedge against feared inflation. Others faced the insecurity of living in rent during the depression. They cannot afford to build yet, but they are getting ready for the day when they can. In many cases the young couple which had to double up with relatives in the bad years wants assurance that it will not have to do so again. Sometimes, too, it's the couple whose man is in the army which is making small payments on the lot out of the husband's allowance while the wife works to take care of herself until Johnny comes marching home.

Whatever the circumstances of the lot-buyers, the fact that so many Americans believe that homes will be going right on after the war is one of the better signs of these unhappy times.

The United States Coast Guard has just celebrated its 151st birthday and was so modest about it that many Americans still don't know what a great variety of useful services that body performs the year around, in peace or war.

"French Economist Sees Us Deciding War's Length"

What he means is that if we go in hard we'll get through quicker. But if the U. S. were free to decide the war's length as it pleased, it would be over tomorrow.

If it were only as easy and pleasant to save money as it is to spend it we would all be millionaires.

HELPING BEHAVIOR PATIENTS

A few years ago a physician who would not hesitate to perform surgical operations of various kinds did hesitate when it came to treating a patient whose mind was "affected" in any way. He promptly sent this patient to the "nervous specialist," the alienist, or, more recently, to the specialist known as a psychiatrist.

Today most physicians do not hesitate to try to help this type of patient and send him to the psychiatrist only when they feel that they themselves can give no further help. This is because physicians recognize that the mind is one organ of the body, just as is the heart or stomach.

Dr. C. Macfie Campbell, Boston, in the Journal of the American Medical Association, states that the psychiatrist does not deal with a disembodied spirit, he deals with persons, with individual human beings, with people who are in some sort of trouble, who are either distressed themselves or causing distress to others by various complaints or by some change in their behavior or in their attitude toward life.

As the cause of the patient's behavior, ideas, or symptoms may be due to underlying disease of the body, the psychiatrist has to make a complete physical examination. "A depressed or irritable condition may be due to an abscess at the root of a tooth; irrational or unusual behavior may be due to too little sugar in the blood." I have spoken before of a New Jersey State mental institution where the removal of infections—teeth, tonsils, sinuses, gall bladder, and others—cured almost 40 per cent of the inmates and they were able to leave the institution.

However, conditions other than infections and other bodily ailments, can cause an individual to become depressed, jealous, or see slights or accusations where none really exist. He may have all varieties of ailments yet thorough examination reveals no disorder of the body.

Dr. Campbell points out that the "normal" individual may have foolish ideas, feelings of depression and other mental symptoms but is able to keep them so well covered that they are not noticed by others. It is by scratching beneath this outer surface that the psychiatrist finds why the "behavior" patient behaves as he does. There is some cause, and by careful, sympathetic questioning it can often be found.

Neurosis
Do you sometimes feel compelled to do things you know to be foolish? Perhaps have an idea that you are being "followed"? Feel sure that you have some serious ailment although medical tests do not reveal it? Send today for Dr. Barton's enlightening booklet entitled "Neurosis" (No. 103). It explains how such conditions are handled. Address your request to The Bell Library, Post Office Box 75, Station O, New York, N. Y., enclosing Ten Cents to cover cost of handling and mailing and mention The Kingston Daily Freeman.

Washington—In view of all the hullabaloo there has been about subversive elements in labor, it is surprising that there was no more comment on a measure which slipped through the House of Representatives in a move to clear the marine radio operators' union of subversive agents.

The so-called Bland bill (sponsored by Rep. Schuyler Otis Bland of Virginia, chairman of the House merchant marine and fisheries committee) would give the Federal Communications Commission the right to deny a radio operator's license to any person employed on a United States merchant marine vessel whose subversive activities are proved to the extent of "reasonable probability."

There are several important things about this bill:

Should it become a law, it might well be the pattern for other measures designed to weed out the communists, bundists, and what-have-you from other fields of labor. Already several more such bills are being prepared in various committees.

Not a single dissenter rose against it in the House and it was given considerably more than lip service by such staunch friends of labor as Rep. Robert Ramspeck of California. Ramspeck, in answer to a question on the floor, admitted that a representative of the C. I. O., with which the marine radio operators' union is affiliated, had asked him to oppose the bill, but said he had told him that he could not do so.

The bill defines a "subversive individual" as any one who believes in or advocates, or at any time has believed in or advocated "controlling, conducting, influencing, seizing, or overthrowing the Government of the United States by force, violence, military measures, or threats of any of the foregoing." U. S. Must Decide Whether Employees Will Be Ruled Under Closed Shop Principle

(By DAVID LAWRENCE)

Washington, Aug. 12.—The United States government now has before it the question of whether it will put thousands of employees into a strait-jacket known as the closed shop. The Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock Company, with $493,000,000 of naval contracts, has offered its plant to the United States navy for "immediate operation and possession."

This means that the navy department now has before it the issue of open or closed shop and that the National Defense Mediation Board panel of three members created this embarrassing situation, having encouraged a strike on the closed shop issue when this never might have been permitted to become a part of the mediation board's findings at all.

The demand of the C. I. O. at the Kearny, N. J. plant of the Federal Shipbuilding and Drydock Company has been euphemistically referred to in the dispatches as merely an insistence on the "union shop." The inference to be drawn from this is that the employer refuses to recognize the majority as the collective bargaining agent for the union. The truth is such recognition has been extended and no dispute exists about it. What the C. I. O. union is demanding is that the employer make himself responsible for the continued membership of workers in a given union. The employer declines and says this is the union's affair, and the strike called to compel the employer to agree to discharge any union man who refuses to pay his dues or remain a member "in good standing."

If the navy department takes over the Kearny plant, and agrees to the closed shop it means that all navy yards and shipbuilding interests in the United States will be on the same basis. Some idea of the strait-jacket in which workers now find themselves by reason of the closed shop agreements may be derived from a reading of a decision announced on July 29th last by the Court of Appeals of the State of New York—the highest court in the most populous state in America. That court decision makes it clear that once a man belongs to a union under a closed shop agreement he cannot quit the union together with his fellow workers and start another union. He must submit to the tyranny of the existing union till the end of the contract, however long that may be.

The case in question came before the state labor relations board which is empowered to make a statute analogous to that of the federal Wagner law. The state board held that when a majority of the workers wanted a new contract they could have it and that the collective bargaining machinery could then function. But the court of appeals held that in a choice between upholding the sanctity of contracts and the collective bargaining process, there was nothing in either the federal or the state laws governing collective bargaining which could upset the validity of a contract.

It is to be noted that the court decision quashes a high executive of labor as favoring the maintenance of the contract rather than the entry of a new bargaining process. The court says, in overruling the board:

"The practical implication of the decision of the board upon the closed shop unions was clearly pointed out by the testimony of George Meany, president of the New York Federation of Labor and now the general secretary of the American Federation of Labor. Mr. Meany testified that the state board's decision that it will hold an election upon request when it finds that the workers desire a change of bargaining agent, will upset the entire democratic process whereby closed shop unions are controlled, since that decision will allow workers to set up their own rival unions instead of seeking control by the normal process of joining the union in power and electing representatives favorable to their views. In this way the board, instead of furthering industrial peace, makes itself an instrument to destroy a collective bargaining organization and to weaken the effectiveness of collective bargaining."

The foregoing decision marks an important precedent. It means that when a closed shop contract is signed, the members cannot resign and form another union. They must submit to the orders of a national parent organization or of a regional organization as the case may be. They lose their freedom of action as American citizens who want to cease belonging to an organization of which they disapprove.

The New York state decision will doubtless influence other courts. In practical effect, it means that a closed shop contract puts individual members in a strait-jacket, and even if all the members of a union dislike it, they are powerless to act—the contract signed at the beginning must remain a contract with a union of only one member out of 10,000 wants to keep it in force. The men, of course, can go out on strike but then the breaking of a contract is involved and the employer is free to rehire whom he pleases.

The C. I. O. demand at Kearny for a maintenance of membership agreement is a form of closed shop frequently found. The Department of Labor in one of its bulletins on the open and closed shop question speaks of the maintenance of membership plan as a "modification" but includes this type under the "closed shop" terminology.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

With local politics soon to assume a large share of the publicity in Kingston, it is interesting to recall that in 1919, Mayor Palmer Canfield was re-elected for his fourth term as mayor of the city, while Lieutenant Rudolph C. Dutius, his running mate, was elected alderman-at-large. They defeated Emanuel Metzger, the Democratic candidate for mayor, and Robert E. Leighton, the candidate for alderman-at-large.

It is also interesting to recall that in February, 1919, tinkering with the city charter was a favorite pastime of the politicians, and that the common council at its meeting that month voted in favor of amending the charter. Among the changes was the creating of 20 wards in the city, and paying the mayor a salary of $2,500. It also included pay for the aldermen.

That revised charter was never adopted by the city at large and did not go into effect. In later years, however, the charter was amended to pay the mayor a salary of $5,000, and that provision is still in force. The aldermen are also paid $300 a year.

I recall that on August 12, 1919, Senator Arthur H. Wicks purchased Thomsons Laundry on Clinton avenue, which he still operates. It was not until later years, however, that the senator became actively interested in politics.

It was in March, 1919, that County Judge Joseph M. Fowler and John T. Loughran, then a rising young attorney of this city, formed a new law partnership, which existed for several years. Mr. Loughran is now one of the judges of the Court of Appeals, while Judge Fowler is still engaged in the active practice of law with an office on Wall street.

Mardi Gras was held in Kingston Point Park, and Miss Emily Anderson of Delaware avenue, was elected queen, while Rosalie Perry was judged to be the best all round baby in the baby contest that was a part of the festivities.

Former Chief of Police J. Allan Wood in August of that year was re-elected president of the New York State Association of Chiefs of Police.

September 2, 1919, the G. A. Hart dry goods store on Wall street, became the Wonderly Company store. Mr. Hart will be recalled by older readers as a veteran of the Civil War and a widely known Kingston business man.

Guernsey Owners Will Renew Plea

Hope for Premium Above Other Breed of Cow

Albany, Aug. 12.—Owners of Guernsey cows and representatives of the Guernsey breed associations at Buffalo on Aug. 13 will resume their long drawn out struggle for a premium above the amount paid to producers of milk from other breeds of cows.

Since inception of the milk marketing orders the Guernsey interest has sought inclusion of a differential in favor of their milk. Their plea was remitted to Commissioner Holton V. Noyes of the Department of Agriculture and Markets by the Court of Appeals last October. The court instructed the Commissioner to make findings of fact in the Guernsey plea either upon the evidence introduced at the original promulgation hearings or upon evidence submitted at another hearing.

Commissioner Noyes accordingly called a hearing at Buffalo on June 16 to receive evidence regarding a Guernsey differential. It was decided at that time that the evidence would be considered in respect to a differential in both the Niagara Frontier and Rochester State milk marketing orders. The Buffalo hearing adjourned to Rochester on June 24 and from there was again adjourned to Buffalo on Aug. 5 but was postponed to Aug. 13 because the date conflicted with hearings on proposed changes in the New York milk marketing order.

Many witnesses already have testified both for and against the inclusion of a Guernsey differential which would require adjustment of the equalization provisions inasmuch as the premium would be paid from the pool.

Commissioner Noyes said he expects to preside at the resumption of the Guernsey hearing in the State Office Building at Buffalo, Aug. 13 at 10 a. m. but if he is unable to do so will designate a hearing master to represent him.

Australia plans to construct 60 merchant ships within the next year.

Pine Camp, N. Y., Aug. 12.—One of the largest permanent steel structures of its kind on any army post is located in the Pine Camp Military Reservation housing the workshops of the Post Ordnance. The building was one of the first to be erected at any army post in the country, although eventually it is believed, they will become a part of every post. The structure is 216 by 65 feet in general ground area.

The compliment of the Ordnance section here is comprised of 23 enlisted men, under the supervision of Post Ordnance officer, Major M. H. Resni Coff. The men are skilled in the art of mechanics, having studied at various army arsenals such as Springfield Armory or at Aberdeen Proving Grounds in Maryland. The Post Ordnance department has charge of repairs for all tanks, scout cars, wrecking trucks, half-track cars, artillery and small arms used by armored force units and GHQ Reserve tank units stationed at the Pine Camp Military Reservation. Thirty expert civilian armament machinists and motor mechanics will soon supplement the personnel of the Ordnance section here. Already 12 of these civilian workers have been hired. It is the policy to employ local technicians where they are available in line with the Military Reservation's "good neighbor" policy, according to Colonel Frank K. Chapin, commanding officer.

Home Department Entries Come In For County Fair

Entries have been coming in to the Home Department of the Ulster County Fair since August 1, it was announced today. Judging from the number of these and the number of inquiries received at the Home Bureau office the Home Department promises to be bigger than ever.

This is a unique fair because the entire arrangement shows what is going on in the homes and farms of the county. It is an education to see the beautiful handwork local homemakers are working on—the quilts, afghans, tablecloth, luncheon sets, knitted, crocheted, woven and tatted work.

The women, are thrifting canning all the products they can procure, choose a few typical jars to show their high standard of workmanship. It is no hardship to find them because the sensible rules allow standard containers for canned goods and any container for pickles and preserves for family use.

The canned goods section bids the fair to be bigger this year than last year as it should be when the live at home program is more economical than ever.

Good cooks are entering cakes, pies, cookies and breads. These are the homemakers who wisely find creative joy in their every-day work.

Table settings vary, some being arrangements of beautiful furniture, dishes and silver, others of more ordinary materials. The value of the materials has nothing to do with their merits—what counts is the order and beauty of arrangements. Everything used has to be in keeping with the whole.

Earlier Ulster county residents are remembered by the quilts they have handed down to friends and relatives. These antique quilts make one of the most outstanding displays, illustrating a little thought that will help fellow homemakers.

Premium lists for the Home Department are still available from the Home Bureau office, 280 Wall street, Kingston. Entries may be made at the same place until noon, August 16.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

By The Associated Press

Bomb Shells

New York—The police bomb squad was called to investigate a suspicious package found near the Queens Electric Light and Power Company plant.

The experts handled the package gingerly, mindful of past bomb cases, soaked it in oil and then opened it to find—something of a clam chowder instead of powder. It contained a bushel of oily clams.

Shoo! Shoo!

Kansas City—The Duncan Dallah's chickens are back home, still confused about the whole thing.

An irate neighbor shooed them into a taxicab and whisked them off to police headquarters.

"These are Dallah's chickens. They were in my zinnias," she told Sgt. E. K. Bullard and left.

Bullard booked the fowls and notified their owner.

They rode home in the family car, hours later, pledged to stay in their own backyard.

Sad Homecoming

Chicago—Better not say anything to Mr. and Mrs. Sebastian Manola, now honeymooning in Louisiana, but—

Burglars broke into the home of the bride's parents and took all the wedding gifts.

Better Than Nothing

Decatur, Ill.—One of Ira Weatherford's hens, denied accommodations for hatching chickens, is mothering a little of seven squealing pigs.

The clucking biddy spreads her wings and shoos the porkers from one spot to another. The unprotesting sow sleeps contentedly in the same pen, knowing her offspring will always return at mealtime.

Show Developments In Potato Growing

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 12.—An opportunity to see, hear, and learn the latest developments in potato growing is afforded farmers at the twelfth annual potato field day scheduled for Thursday, August 14, on the farm of Hugh Humphreys and sons, New Hartford, Oneida county. More than ten thousand farmers attend this event each year.

New York has about 130,000 potato growers; they comprise about three-fourths of all the farmers. Less than 15 per cent of these consider potato growing a major enterprise, yet all can learn much to increase their profits, says Prof. E. V. Hardenburg of the state college of agriculture.

The college is cooperating with exhibits of potato diseases and insects, new varieties and seedlings, a fertilizer demonstration, a display of picking containers, and plots of such green manure crops as sunflowers, Sudan grass, Japanese millet, sowed corn, and annual rye grass. Visitors will see how corn and sunflowers eight feet high can be turned under with simple farm equipment.

With the present emphasis on strip-cropping and contour planting, potatoes planted, sprayed, and harvested from a field so arranged will be shown.

A machinery show and demonstration that will be larger than any in past years is also announced. Featured speaker at the field day is Thomas E. Dewey, district attorney of New York county.

Cloudy Skies Spoil Astronomers' Party

Harvard, Mass., Aug. 12 (AP)—Harvard scientists drew rain checks themselves after generously offering $1 prizes to anyone who got a good photographic shot of a meteor in last night's annual per-seid shower.

The astronomers weren't exactly rained out, but overcast skies prevented them from getting any photos with their own cameras either at their Oak Ridge observatory here or at the Cambridge observatory.

In fact, the only glimpse they got of what is generally one of the best sky shows of the year, was a naked eye observation of two low-flying meteors seen through thin clouds.

But they said the scheduled shower of tear-shaped meteors—sometimes called "St. Lawrence's tears"—should have been visible in all parts of the world where clear skies prevailed, and they were hopeful that their offer of $1 bounty for photographed meteors would give them new data on the phenomenon.

Records Broken for Aviation Cadet Training

All records were broken during the month of July in the number of accepted applicants for aviation cadet training in the air corps, from the Second Corps Area, according to an announcement today by Colonel G. H. Baird, corps area recruiting officer. The total number of young men definitely approved for training, leading to commission as flying officers, for the month was 348, a figure exceeding by well over 100 any previous month since the inception of the "Flying Cadet" campaign.

The accepted applicants have been notified by the War Department of their assignment to aviation cadet status and the majority are now awaiting orders to report at stipulated training centers on dates to be determined as soon as facilities permit. One hundred and thirty-six of the candidates have already been designated for the August classes and will report to selected basic schools on or about August 20.

The remainder will be called for subsequent classes. The 136 on the immediate call list are distributed throughout the corps area districts as follows:

Southern New York (New York city included)—68.

Northeastern New York—7.

Northern New Jersey—18.

Southern New Jersey—10.

Delaware—4.

Colonel Baird expressed the satisfaction of the recruiting authorities in the increasing interest and response of young men qualified for aviation cadet training; due largely to the current intensive measures being taken nationally to publicize the need of the air corps for commissioned flying personnel under the slogan "Keep 'em Flying!"

Crossing Elimination To Cost City Nothing

Mayor C. J. Heiselman said today that he has received an inquiry from a citizen as to whether or not the city had to pay for any part of the cost of eliminating the Broadway crossing.

"The answer to that question is absolutely, no," the mayor said, and added, "The city will not have to pay anything toward the cost of eliminating the crossing. The state of New York pays the entire cost, including the real estate damages and the cost of relocating the city's water and sewer lines and the street lights in the affected area and the cost of building several new streets. The contract for the whole job will be let to a contractor by the New York State Department of Public Works and the contractor will take down the buildings, build the elimination, relocate the sewer and water lines and build the new streets. The entire bill will be paid for by the state and the city will bear no part of any expense in connection with the work."

"Article VII, Section 14, of the New York State Constitution, which was adopted by the voters of the state on November 8, 1938, provides that the entire cost of all grade crossing eliminations has to be paid for by the state. Funds for Kingston's crossing elimination have been set aside in Albany out of the proceeds of $300,000,000 in state bonds which were authorized by the voters of the state in 1928 for the purpose of eliminating all the dangerous railroad grade crossings in the state."

A LAUGHING MATTER

LOU COSTELLO'S FAVORITE STORY

My younger daughter, Carol, spent the other evening playing with her new alphabet blocks. When she finally was persuaded to go to bed about 9 o'clock, she insisted on bringing the blocks along with her.

Carol was very drowsy and was falling asleep when she remembered she hadn't said her prayers.

She turned, pushed her blocks away with a vague gesture, and said sleepily:

"Oh Lord, I'm too sleepy to pray. There are the blocks spell it out Yourself."

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, Aug. 12.—Mr. and Mrs. Griffin Herrick, Mrs. Goodrich and Miss Barbara Herrick will leave Wednesday for Oakland, Calif., where they will take up their residence. Mrs. Goodrich owns property in Oakland and formerly resided there. The party will drive to the coast and will visit various points of interest en route. Mrs. Goodrich went to New Haven before leaving for the coast and visited a sister who resides there. On Saturday a going-away party was given to Miss Barbara Herrick by a number of her friends. The party was arranged by Jean Emory and was attended by many of Barbara's friends.

The second of the open air services sponsored by the Methodist Church was held on Cooper's hill Sunday evening. There were 120 people present. The music was under the direction of Otto Drescher. The subject of Mrs. Haws' address was "The Song of Your Life," and an impressive part of the service was his reading of some of the poetry of the Indian poet Tagore, who died during the past week. The next service will be Sunday evening at 7 o'clock, instead of 7:30 o'clock.

The fair for the blind was held Saturday morning and was perhaps the most successful ever held here. Representatives from Albany conduct this fair each year, and it has constantly increased in popularity. The proceeds amounted to $272.84.

MADE UP TO KILL

Chapter 14

This Murder

BOWERS hadn't risen from his desk. He sat hunched over the disorderly mass of papers, his head bowed in his hands. When he lifted his face to us, I was shocked at its gray haggardness. Philip coughed a forced, staccato cough.

"We... we couldn't help over-hearing, Clint. 'Green Apples' is closing then?"

Bowers nodded. "Yes. Definitely."

"Then... I suppose it will be all right for me to accept any offer that might come my way?" I'm considering Hollywood."

"It'll be all right so far as I'm concerned. The police, however..."

Ashley smiled a sort of grave amusement. "I hardly think there will be any difficulty there. After all, my long record on the American stage..."

"Your long record on the American stage!" I repeated indignantly. His calm assurance made me sick at my stomach. "What's that got to do with whether or not you tried to kill Carol?"

"Relax, Haila," Jeff put his hand on my shoulder.

"It's quite all right," Ashley said, cooing with patronage. "We're all horribly upset and overwrought. It's been a frightful experience, this..."

"This murder," Bowers said quietly.

We had all been chanting "Murder" for the past twenty-four hours. It had become the prime word in our vocabularies and had almost lost any connotation. But when Bowers said it now, so quietly and bluntly, it found its place again, and Eve's horrible dead body and Carol's scared white face were with us in the room.

Jeff moved uneasily. "I'm afraid I didn't exactly live up to my recommendation of myself."

"No," Bowers said. "You couldn't help it. Don't blame yourself. Jeff, I asked you to watch Carol."

"I might have watched... a little further."

"You couldn't know that Eve would pick up Carol's cape and stand there, where in a minute Carol would be standing, looking like Carol..."

"Madness!" Ashley said. "Eve didn't think. She needed something to cover her scars, and she took the first thing she could find. She didn't think about murder. She thought about her entrance. Eve was like that. No, Jeff, there was nothing anybody could have done."

"Darling, you did your best," I said. "Clint knows that. Why, even Peterson couldn't prevent it."

"My responsibility was greater than his. He was doing a job that had been assigned. It was routine for him. I was trying to do a job that I'd made for myself. And I failed." He stopped and took a deep breath. "Well, the point is, I'm going on. And you can forget that money was ever mentioned yesterday, Clint."

Bowers looked at him for a long moment. "We won't forget anything, Jeff. Since last night..."

"Since Eve?" He swung his chair around so that his face was turned from us.

No one spoke. It was as though all of us were searching our minds for the right thing to say and there was no right thing. At last Philip coughed again and stood up.

"It's a beastly business. I wish there were something I could do. I know there isn't. Just... if ever you have anything for me again, Clint, I'd consider it a privilege to play for you."

"If ever I produce again?"

"But of course, you will." And soon, old man, very soon," Philip patted him on the shoulder.

"Without Eve? I haven't produced a play in five years without Eve. No play comes into this office except some agent thinks there is an Eve North part in it."

He wasn't talking to us; he was thinking out loud. "I've built every production around her. Everyone in the cast a contrast to her. Every set a background for her. I... I wouldn't know how to go about producing without Eve."

Once More, Lee Gray

HE STOPPED and his eyes, soft and sad, turned bitter. He stared unseeing at the sheet of papers on his desk. We made mumbled exits that Bowers scarcely noticed.

I walked between Jeff and Ashley up to Broadway, breathing the crisp air gustily as though I might expel with it the tragic atmosphere of that office over that Colony. Philip was going on again at greater length to explain how Eve's murder was inconvenient to him personally. At Times Square a delivery truck pulled up to a kiosk and dumped a bundle of papers. I slipped away and bought one to see what was being said about the case. Jeff flicked the front section from me. I turned to the theatrical pages while Philip droned away, seemingly unaware of our lack of attention.

In the notes of coming productions I saw something that made me gulp in astonishment, and it was a minute before I could collect enough breath to speak.

"Jeff! Jeff, listen to this! For his next production 'Through Heavens Fall,' Vincent Parker has engaged Morgan Thomsand, of formers during the week with the former's sister, Mrs. Harry Springfield at Asbury Park.

Mrs. William C. Rose and daughter, Miss Eleanor Rose, have been enjoying a few days' motor trip in the Adirondacks.

Frank Miller and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Miller of Reading, Pa., spent Tuesday and Wednesday with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Van Deusen of Essex street.

Mrs. Charles Leopold of Middletown is spending a month with her mother, Mrs. Thomas Van Gorder.

Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Guthrie have returned home from Glens Falls where they had been visiting relatives.

Miss Virginia Bradford, student at Horton Memorial Hospital, Middletown, is enjoying a vacation

Marge Flint and... and Lee Gray.

Jeff ripped the paper from my hand. I pointed to the item and he read it aloud as if he expected the name, if it had been there at all, to be gone by now. "... Morgan Thomsand, Marge Flint and Lee Gray, Haila, who is Vincent Parker? Does he have an office? Where is it?"

"C'mon," Jeff said, "let's get moving."

"Just a second," Ashley put his hand on Jeff's arm. "Are you... are you going to Parker's office now? Immediately?"

"Sooner than that," C'mon, Ashley, walk up with us."

"No, thanks. I wouldn't be seen in Parker's office. I couldn't afford to. Besides, I've a terribly important appointment downtown."

"Wall Street, no doubt," I said maliciously.

As a matter of fact, it is Wall Street. "Yes."

Ashley stepped into his cab and I had to run to catch up with Jeff who was halfway across Broadway by that time.

On Sixth Avenue he didn't even stop, as he usually did, to make sure the khaki colored men digging the new subway were getting all right. Breathless, I grabbed his arm and pulled myself abreast of him. "Jeff..."

Jeff snorted and two middle-aged women gaped at me. Automatically, I still raised my voice to a shriek on Sixth Avenue to combat the roar of the El trains that were no longer extant.

I tried again, in a softer tone. "Jeff, shouldn't Peterson know about this?"

"He probably does. Save your air. We should've taken a cab."

Mr. Parker

AT RADIO CITY we took one of those rocket ships they call express elevators and I answered the operator's questioning look. "Sixty-two." He punched the button with a flip of his knuckle and leaned back against the wall, waiting for the car to stop. When he became convinced that no one would ride in the same elevator with Jeff and me, he took off for the sixty-second floor.

The doors slid open and we stepped out. Jeff started to say something, then stopped. I glanced in the direction he was staring. Backing slowly into the next car, with the crowd settled in the rear, was Philip Ashley. The doors closed. It was impossible for Ashley not to have seen us, but his eyes gave no flicker of recognition. His face was dead pan.

"Well," I said, "so this is Wall Street."

"Yeah."

"But why should he do that?" "Maybe he wanted to find out about Lee Gray before we did. We'll see."

Parker's secretary announced me over the telephone without first asking my name. That made me feel fine and smug. That girl and her colleagues had almost nipped my theatrical career in the bud until one day I had managed to slip past her, and Vincent Parker had given me my first part in New York.

Mr. Parker would see me in a few minutes. In answer to Jeff's question, the secretary told him that Philip Ashley had not been in to see Parker within the last few minutes or, as far as she knew, ever. Jeff sat down beside me.

"Haila," he said, "let me do the talking about L. G."

Vincent Parker opened his door and beckoned to me. He looked like five and a half feet of rainbow with his dark-blue shirt, yellow knitted tie, brown tweed suit and very conservative battleship gray spats. His face split in a grin that shook his ears. When Jeff followed me into the office he flattered me by looking disappointed that I wasn't alone.

"She's my girl," Jeff explained. "I never leave her alone with strange men."

"If you think I'm strange you oughta see my brother!" Parker said. When he had stopped laughing I introduced Jeff to him and we seated ourselves. Parker behind his huge, streamlined desk. Jeff and I on a luxurious divan that Vincent must have bought secondhand from some insolvent Caliph.

"Nicely appointed chamber," Jeff said. He had nearly broken my neck to get up here and now he was being the suave, casual Philo Vance type. "Who decorated your office? Billy Rose?"

"Billy Rose? Naw. Great little fellow, though. I knew Billy when he was short-hand champion of the world. Billy thinks a lot of me and I've always admired him, too."

"I understand you're going to do a play, Mr. Parker," I said, trying to get Jeff to the point.

"When you call me Mr. Parker, Haila, I don't know to who you are referring. The first name is Vincent. It ain't as if we were more acquaintances. I give you your start on Broadway. Tell me if I'm wrong."

"Vincent," I blurted, "who is Lee Gray? What is she, where is she?"

Parker beamed. "You want to know, too, huh?"

"Too!" Jeff barked. "Who else has been asking?"

"The cops. One of the drama-page boys on the Post tipped them off when he seen my press release. I figured it would raise plenty of comment."

"Well, who is Lee Gray?"

"Frankly, Haila, I don't know."

F. D. R. Says Food Reserves Necessary For Years Ahead

Secretary Wickard Releases Letter Which Says That Food Is Weapon Against Hitler

Washington, Aug. 12 (AP).—President Roosevelt declared in a letter made public today by Secretary Wickard that the country needed food reserves "to meet emergencies which can as yet be only dimly foreseen."

Addressed to the secretary, it was in acknowledgment of a report on the agriculture department's program to encourage production of pork, dairy products, poultry, and other foods. It was dated July 25.

Mr. Roosevelt said that in this time of crisis, "food is a weapon against Hitlerism just as much as munitions and food will continue to be a weapon in all efforts toward insuring a more orderly, prosperous and peaceful world."

Bargains Promised Those Who Attend Dollar Day Sales

Housewives—and housebands, too—who have been watching the steady upward spiral of prices for about everything they have to purchase, will doubtless take a keener than usual interest in the attractive offerings presented by Kingston merchants for their annual August Dollar Day.

Wednesday, August 13, has been set for the date of the big event and given a continuance of the fine weather it is expected that attendance on the sale will make a record.

Many of the merchants have provided for extra help on Dollar Day in order to handle the demands upon them as rapidly as possible and with the greatest amount of satisfaction to the customer.

Kingston presents to shoppers a convenience that is not found in many other cities and that is a generous amount of free parking space. In the uptown section alone there are at least three such spaces—the public parking ground on John street, the large space at the rear of the Montgomery Ward store and the parking ground on Main street on the site of the former Eagle Hotel. In addition there are numerous convenient streets adjoining the business section where visitors may park their cars.

Legion Community Night Is Expected To Attract Crowd

The American Legion Community Night committee is looking forward to one of the finest community night programs ever held at a local playground as final plans for this evening's special event at Hasbrouck Park are being completed. The program is scheduled to get under way promptly at 7:15 o'clock.

Every type of entertainment feature is included in the variety program, including dancing, singing, boxing, wrestling, and instrumental music, drum corps exhibition, band concert and five reels of "talkies."

The Sons of the American Legion Drum Corps will open the program with an exhibition drill on the upper ball diamond at Hasbrouck Park. Following this, the American Legion sponsored band, under the baton of Sal Castiglione, will give a concert. The program follows:

America Carey
Down Main Street Wiedt
Mexicali Rose Tenney
Washington Post March Sousa
Yankee Doodle Carpenter
Beer Barrel Polka Arrangement Geo. Briegel
Thunderbolt Sousa
Star Spangled Banner Smith
The concert will begin at 7:30 o'clock sharp.

Robert Hawksley will sing the national anthem. Others on the program are Doc Fisher and his Home Town Boys; Martin Kelley, songs; Oulton and Finn, comedy skit team; Kingston's Singing Cowboy, and his son, Smiling Billy Crosby; Alex Grossman, Catskill Boys' Club clarinet soloist; the Happiness Boys, Johnnie Fisher and Jackie Carter; Fred Van Deusen, magician, and his protegee, Joe O'Rourke; Resine and Mylo Snyder, continental ballet dancers; Jack Reilly, 13-year-old Catskill Boys' Club tenor, and a special boxing exhibition between Frankie Albright of Kingston and Barney Emerson of St. Remy.

A special program of movies will feature a two-reel Warner Brothers technicolor picture, "Servant of the People." Other pictures will be "Journalism," "Margie," and a comic cartoon, "Marching Along."

The entire program will be held on the upper level of Hasbrouck Park, and the newly constructed stage will be in use for the first time. Parking facilities will be adequate.

Mileage in 1903 Brings 1941 Payment in Full

Fort Worth, Tex., Aug. 12 (AP).—"How many miles from Holsington to Osage City, Kas., over the Missouri Pacific?" an elderly man asked Texas and Pacific Ticket Agent H. F. Burton.

Burton's figuring showed 172 miles.

"What was the mileage rate in 1902?"

"Three cents," said Burton. The man pushed $3.16 through the ticket window.

"But it's only two cents per mile now," protested the agent.

"That's all right! I made the trip in 1902, now I want to pay off. Just don't ask any questions."

Home Service

Promotions and Raises in U. S. Civil Service

Ambitious Workers Can Advance

If you're an ambitious worker you may want to know what future you'd have if you got on Uncle Sam's big payroll. Good! Uncle Sam likes ambitious workers. In U. S. Civil Service there are many chances for promotion.

Suppose for instance, you had passed the test for Junior Stenographer, a job paying $1440 a year. That might be just the beginning of a Civil Service career for you, as there are two higher grades of stenographer to work toward.

In professional fields, such as medicine, the sciences, social sciences, law and engineering the opening salary of $2,000 rises in eight stages to $8,000 and $9,000. Inexperienced men starting as paid Helper Trainees and Apprentices in the mechanical trades may advance to such Civil Service jobs as machinists at $1,980 a year, sheetmetal workers at about $9.41 a day.

A government employee may take a test for a better U. S. Civil Service job, getting preferred listing.

Men and women, in wide age ranges, have equal opportunities in Civil Service. Our 32-page booklet lists U. S. Civil Service jobs with requirements, pay and types of test. Explains how to apply, has sample tests.

Send 10 cents in coin for your copy of "Getting a Job With The U. S. Government" to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Avenue, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your name, address and the name of booklet.

Calls Him Stool Pigeon

Los Angeles, Aug. 12 (AP).—Joseph Edward Davies, former ambassador to Belgium and Russia, criticizes John Cudahy, former ambassador to Belgium, for advocating that the United States initiate a peace move.

"John Cudahy is being used as a stool pigeon, unconsciously, for the man who would destroy Christianity," Davies told a Town Hall meeting yesterday. "I say this with sorrow." Cudahy suggested the peace move in an address in Milwaukee Sunday.

defense of Communist Chief Stalin and his stout men-at-arms.

The Bolsheviks continue a fierce resistance in this eighth bloody week of the war. Still, I think we are warranted in concluding that there has been a gradual weakening of the Russian line—not numerically but in the power of defense. We may have a clue to the meaning of this in the Nazi claim that while the Reds are throwing unlimited reserve into the fighting, the resistance has lessened.

If this is true, it would seem to indicate that the reserves include many men who either are not well trained or have passed their youth and lack the stamina for the task at hand. One suspects that lack of thoroughly trained troops may be the chief difficulty, since the Soviet reserve in man-power is vast.

The third phase of the German invasion has developed into an operation of fast movement again in some sectors, especially in the more open Ukraine. The strain of this blitzkrieg warfare is so terrific that only a highly trained soldier who is absolutely fit physically can stand up under it.

One hastens to add that there is no intention of drawing a picture of impending catastrophe for the Russians. However, the Germans seem to be headed for a very sizeable victory in the Ukraine, and perhaps at Leningrad.

That should come as no surprise to regular readers of this column, since we have discussed the probability often enough. We also have considered the likelihood that the Muscovites would have to make considerable withdrawals of their line to new positions farther east.

As pointed out before, everything depends on whether they are able to retire in order. A debacle might lead to irreparable disaster.

Moscow admits that the fighting fronts in the Leningrad sector and in the Ukraine have moved eastward. The Nazis claim that the Red retirement in the Ukraine has assumed the nature of a rout, a statement which the Muscovites deny.

In any event, the point is that if the Russians can pull their line back in an orderly manner to prepared positions, the struggle may continue indefinitely—a result which ultimately might spell defeat for the Nazis, since they lack adequate resources for a long war.

The Japanese are poised for action as the Russo-Nazi action develops. Their preparedness, however, is tempered by great caution which may prevent a further upheaval.

Cochran to Offer Bill to Provide For More Police

Washington, Aug. 12 (AP).—A number of murders and rapings in Washington since January led Rep. Cochran (D., Mo.) to say today he would introduce a bill to provide an additional 100 policemen for the nation's capital.

"With 19 rape cases recorded since January 1," said Cochran, "no other argument should be necessary for immediate action by the Congress in passing my bill. The attention of the entire United States has been called to the conditions in Washington by reason of the murders and rapes that have occurred here in recent months."

"No where has there come to my attention a condition anywhere near approaching the record of attacks on women in the District of Columbia."

Cochran's bill would increase appropriations for Washington police by $158,000.

Police announced Sunday that a 34-year-old negro had confessed he raped a 15-year-old daughter of a government employee last week. Police also said they had a confession from another alleged rapist. A third rapist was convicted and sentenced to death by electrocution.

Kerhonkson Man Held on Charges Following Crash

Charles Trombley of Kerhonkson was arrested Monday by Sergeant Hopkins and Trooper Cogswell as the result of an accident about 10 o'clock Sunday night on Route 209, half a mile south of Kerhonkson.

Trombley was arraigned before Justice M. D. Schoonmaker of Elleville on charges of driving while intoxicated and leaving the scene of an accident. He was fined $25 on the first charge and $10 on the charge of leaving the scene of an accident.

Troopers report that Trombley's car was in collision with cars driven by Earl Sampson of Wawarsing and Izzie Tessler of Kerhonkson.

Irving Abidon of 480 Bushwick avenue, Brooklyn, who was in the Tessler car, sustained a laceration of the forehead and Richard Jones of Kerhonkson had a fractured rib. Both were treated at the Veterans Memorial Hospital, Elleville.

Homesick Brooklynite A.W.O.L. on Old Door

New Rochelle, N. Y., Aug. 12 (AP).—When Brooklynites get far from Brooklyn they get homesick. Private Robert D. Domar was at Fort Slocum, and that's far enough from Flatbush to get more than a twinge of nostalgia.

He thought of his girl, of the trees at Prospect Park and of Sundays at Ebbets Field with Lippy and the boys. To be forever marooned on an island? Not he.

Domar stole down to the old incinerator on the shore. There he found a door which he improvised as a raft. And an old land can in which he sealed his clothes.

Driver Is Fined In Local Court

Sixty-Day Jail Sentence Is Suspended Pending Repairs of Damages

Pleading guilty to a charge of operating an automobile while intoxicated, Ralph H. Green, 55, of the Sawkill road, was fined $50 in police court this morning by Judge Matthew V. Cahill who also imposed an additional jail sentence of 60 days in the county jail. The serving of the jail sentence was suspended provided Green make restitution for the damage he did while driving his car.

According to the police, Green while driving on Albany avenue about 9 o'clock Monday evening, crashed into the rear of the automobile owned by Joseph Magnino, which was parked in front of the Magnino residence at 408 Albany avenue.

Judge Cahill also revoked Green's operator's license.

Green paid the amount of the fine and made arrangements to pay for the damage to the Magnino automobile.

Frank W. Seymour of 118 West street, Newburgh, was arrested Monday charged with speeding 50 miles an hour on East Chester street. He furnished $20 bail for his appearance in police court on August 16.

Sam Graham, a negro of New York city, charged with disorderly conduct in loitering around Broadway without visible means of support, was sentenced to 180 days in jail, but the serving of the jail sentence was suspended provided he was out of the city by noon.

Howard Kay of Brooklyn, charged with public intoxication at the Central Bus Terminal, was fined $3.

Saul A. Binin of Parkville, charged with passing a red traffic light, forfeited $5 bail.

St. Joseph's Group Will Hold Picnic

Outing Slated to Be Held Next Sunday Afternoon

Final meeting of the committee on arrangements for the annual picnic of St. Joseph's Church, to complete plans for the outing, will be held at St. Joseph's school hall Wednesday night. All members of the committee and others willing to assist, are asked to attend.

The picnic this year will be held at Golden Rule Inn on Sunday afternoon, starting at 1 o'clock and continuing until dusk. Parishioners and friends of the church are invited to be present. Tickets may be procured at the church, following services Sunday morning, or on the grounds.

Starting at 1 o'clock Sunday buses will run back and forth between St. Joseph's school and the inn, furnishing free transportation to all who wish to attend the outing.

Diversion will include games of all kinds, boating and bathing and all kinds of refreshments will be obtainable.

A feature of the day will be the softball game between the married men, managed by James J. O'Connor and the single men, managed by Paul Phelan.

The picnic is being held at the inn this year because increasing popularity of the affair made it necessary to obtain larger accommodations.

Townsendites Will Hold Session Wednesday Night

Wednesday evening the semi-monthly meeting of the Kingston Townsend Club, No. 1, will be held in Mechanics Hall, 14 Henry street, and an interesting program has been arranged.

The meeting will open at 7:45 o'clock. According to the Townsend Washington Flash Bulletin an effort is being made to enact the Townsend Bill, into law at Washington.

An evening of games, to which the public is invited, will follow the business meeting. Games will begin at 8:30 o'clock and refreshments will be served. Miss Mildred Niles, president of the club, will preside.

Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes Losing Its Punch

Juneau, Alaska, Aug. 12 (AP)—The Valley of Ten Thousand Smokes, relic of America's most fearsome natural phenomena, is losing its punch.

In fact, there are only eight smokes left.

This surprising information was relayed here today by J. C. Roehm, a mining engineer, after a trip across the Aleutian peninsula.

Roehm, offering no explanation for disappearance of thousands of steam jets which made the valley like something out of a Dante-created inferno, radioed that the remaining jets are small, mild and apparently growing smaller.

Lush Alaskan vegetation is creeping over once-molten sands, and Roehm predicted that the smokes would soon stop entirely.

Employees Attend Dinner for Local Selectee

About 50 employees of The Freeman attended a banquet last evening at Cuneo's restaurant in honor of Donald Burgher, who will leave for Fort Jay and induction into military service on Wednesday.

Dinner Is Given For Don Burgher

Freeman Employees Honor Man to Be Inducted

Approximately 50 employees of The Freeman Publishing Co. assembled at Cuneo's restaurant on Broadway, Monday night, at a dinner in honor of Donald Burgher of 28 East Chester street, a fellow-worker, who leaves for selective service training Wednesday.

After the meal, Mr. Burgher was presented with a set of military brushes and comfort kit, the presentation being made by Alderman Eugene Cornwell of the 11th ward.

In presenting the gift, Alderman Cornwell noted that The Freeman employees would miss the presence of Mr. Burgher, and then gave him a few "tips" on how to get along in the army.

Harry duBois Frey, general manager of The Freeman, commented on the selectee's faithful service to the firm and said, "your job or a better one will be waiting for you when you return." Mr. Frey informed the draftee that as a token of appreciation for his efficiency, The Freeman would favor him with a present of three months' salary.

Mr. Burgher in expressing appreciation for the party, and the kind consideration of both The Freeman and his fellow employees said he would miss their congenial fellowship, but hoped that with the advice given him he'd quickly become accustomed to army life and make a good soldier.

The speakers were introduced by Louis R. Netter, managing editor of The Freeman, who presided as toastmaster and announced for the program of entertainment put on by talented members of The Freeman.

The program consisted of a quartet, George P. Reis, Nicholas Huber, Roland Post and Arthur Carroll; vocal solos by Walter Kieffer; a bit of humorous advice by Ellsworth Haines on how Mr. Burgher should invest what he makes in the army; stories by Joe Kelly and advice by Arthur Patmore from experience gained in the first World War on how to be a successful soldier. The program concluded with assembly singing.

Wins And Loses

New York (AP)—Magistrate Anthony Savarese ruled a drunken driver cannot be charged with hitting a car. A man drove into the car of Patrolman Thomas Westover, who chased him 15 blocks and then lodged complaints of both drunken driving and leaving the scene of an accident. Savarese fined the driver $100 for driving while intoxicated but ruled he could not be held responsible for the other offense.

Season Here for Autumn Hay Fever

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 12—Of the many persons in New York state subject to hay fever, most of them suffer from autumn hay fever, and about 90 per cent of these cases are caused by ragweed, according to a Cornell bulletin on the subject.

Professor W. C. Muenscher, the author, says there are three hay fever periods, depending on when certain plants cause the most suffering. The first period begins in April and continues into June; the second begins in June and extends through July.

The third and most troublesome period, he adds, lasts from the middle of August until the first killing frosts arrive. During this period the ragweeds, false ragweeds, marsh elders, and cockleburds are the worst offenders. All of these produce and shed enormous amounts of wind-borne pollen. Goldenrods are also in blossom during this period, but because they are pollinated by insects they rarely cause hay fever.

The eradication of ragweed so as to eliminate hay fever is a community job and must be continued for several years over extensive areas, Professor Muenscher points out.

The Cornell bulletin, which has the key number E-442, discusses in detail the subject of ragweed and hay fever. A description of the kinds of ragweed is also included. Single copies of this bulletin are free to New York state residents who write to the New York state college of agriculture at Ithaca, N. Y.

Same Soil-Building Rates in Prospect

Ithaca, N. Y., Aug. 12—Substantially the same soil-building allowance rates will be in effect in 1942 as this year for farmers in the agricultural conservation program, according to Ralph Y. DeWolfe, chairman of the state AAA committee.

Farmers may earn two types of payments under the farm program: a payment for carrying out approved soil-building practices, and a payment for planting within special crop allotments, such as those for wheat, tobacco and potatoes. Rates for compliance with special crop allotments will be announced later, Mr. DeWolfe said today.

As in former years, conservation payments are contingent on the annual appropriation by Congress. The new program will provide allotments on the same crops as 1941, except that there will be no allotments for commercial vegetables.

A soil-building allowance is established for each farm on the basis of such factors as the farm's cropland, non-cropland pasture-land, commercial vegetables, and commercial orchards. The participating farmer may earn his farm's allowance by carrying out approved soil-building practices.

Included in the 1942 program, as in 1941, will be a special allowance of $15 which farmers may earn by planting forest trees. The program continues the minimum

Froggers Grab Big Ones for Gourmets

Louisiana Yields Million Pounds Yearly.

NEW ORLEANS. — Leather-skinned fishermen nightly are poling their pirogues along the banks of Louisiana's sluggish bayous in search of the gourmet's delight—giant green bullfrogs.

They are only part of the army of fishermen from Florida, Tennessee and Missouri and other states that make their living catching the giant frogs from fresh water marshes and shipping them to big cities.

Louisiana boasts, however, that the largest and best eating frogs come from the southwestern section of the state. Rayne lays claim to the capital city, but Morgan City and other towns in the area also are heavy producers.

The state department of conservation, in figures released recently, said that 1,286,000 pounds of frogs were caught in 1940.

The United States bureau of fisheries says that no complete statistics of the domestic catch of frogs are available for Louisiana. However, the bureau said Louisiana "unquestionably is one of the most important of producing states" for frogs.

Methods for catching the big, green fellows differ in the many states, but in Louisiana such implements as the spear and gig have been prohibited by law.

It wasn't humanity, but economic reasoning that prompted adoption of the Louisiana frog catcher, a tong-like instrument with wooden handles and claw-like jaws.

Conservationists discovered that too many frogs were being gilled or speared and then released when the frogger found they were too small for the market. Most of these frogs died.

British Styles to Carry War Pictorially to U. S.

LONDON.—British designers are planning to carry the war—pictorially—into the United States on women's dresses.

Instead of the traditional flowers, the latest batch of prints by British designers for export to the United States portrays, for instance, a bayonet-brandishing Home Guard attacking a Nazi paratrooper.

Other motifs include Gen. Charles de Gaulle's proclamation to the Free French, with the general's signature; Prime Minister Winston Churchill's "Never was so much owed by so many to so few" tribute to the Royal Air force; British army, navy and Royal Air force emblems; the shields and scrolls of Free Norwegian, Polish and Czech pilots fighting the Battle of Britain.

One of the most elaborate designs illustrates rationing—hens, eggs, beef, oranges, lemons, pigs, chocolate and lumps of sugar against a sea-green background representing the Battle of the Atlantic.

Blind Trainer of 'Seeing Eye' Dog Is Real Adept

LOS ANGELES.—One of the most skilled trainers of "seeing-eye" dogs for the blind is Otis Gahright, who is blind himself.

Gahright uses a special technique and trains a dog in about four months. He has trained 10, and now is at work on Prince, a tawny German shepherd that he rescued from the pound as a pup.

"Prince first had to learn that I was blind," said the trainer. "I would step on him purposely and then have someone else avoid him as he lay down. Thus he soon caught on to my condition."

"I use a close chain, with which to teach Prince to stay on my left side. Thus I can carry my white cane in my right hand and hold the dog with my left."

Pride spurs the dog to learn his job. The dog learned that his life work is to look after the blind master. Only about 1 in 50 German shepherds is fitted for the task, Gahright said.

Red Faces Alter in Store

Episode in Kansas Town

PITTSBURG, Kan.—Johnny Friergeri was speechless when the woman filled his arms with groceries and stood staring at him. He had come into the store to make a small purchase, and this sudden generosity—or whatever it was—caught him a little unprepared.

"Well, how much?" the woman demanded with an icy look.

Johnny just stuttered.

The woman took over. In assorted words, she called him a dumb clerk.

Then Johnny caught on.

"I don't work here!" he said at the first opportunity.

Dodgers Rout Giants, 15-7; Cardinals Still in Second After Defeating Cubs, 7-5

Brooklyn Retains Slim Margin for Hold on First; Yanks Lose to Boston, 8-0

(By The Associated Press)
A couple of years ago people were poking fun at the National League as a big minor circuit but it knocked out the rival American League in two all-star games and the 1940 world series and this summer has been giving the fans the only run for their money under the big top.

The battle between the Brooklyn Dodgers and the St. Louis Cardinals for the pennant in the senior circuit is as exciting as the "perils of Pauline" with the buzz saw getting closer at the end of every installment.

The Dodgers bashed down hard on the New York Giants yesterday, 15 to 7, and the St. Louis Cardinals conquered the Chicago Cubs, 7 to 5, to continue their neck-and-neck race with the Dodgers still in front by the slender margin of .003.

High Wins 16th
Kirby Higbe pitched and batted the Dodgers to their triumph, his 16th. He checked the Giants on seven hits.

The Dodgers took charge in the first inning with seven runs, three of them on Ducky Medwick's 15th homer and two on a single by Higbe with the bases loaded. They rounded up six more in the sixth when Higbe doubled with the bases filled. In addition Brooklyn's 17-hit offensive included two other singles by Higbe and Dolph Camilli's 22nd homer.

The Cardinals likewise nailed down their victory early, taking a 6 to 1 lead in the first four frames, but it took a magnificent relief pitching performance by Harry Gumbert to save it for them. In the fifth Lon Warneke was pelted for successive home runs by Phil Cavarretta, Stan Hack and Bill Nicholson. Then Gumbert hurried on the scene and pitched no-hit ball for 4 2/3 innings.

In the only other National League contest the Phillies whipped the Boston Braves, 6 to 3, for Boom Boom Walter Beck's first victory of the year. The tail-enders collected 15 hits.

The listless New York Yankees, so far in front of the American League that few people pay any attention to them, were shut out, 8 to 0, by the Boston Red Sox as Jack Wilson pitched four-hit ball for his first complete game of the season. Sparked by Manager Joe Cronin's three-run homer, the Red Sox splurged for six runs in the fourth.

Boston made 14 hits, Dominic DiMaggio supplied three, including a homer, and was hit twice by pitched balls. The first time it was on the back and the second time on the head. He was not seriously hurt.

More 'Benings'
The wave of "benings" during the week-end brought on a fight as the St. Louis Browns and the White Sox at Chicago. In the first game Elden Aucker smacked Joe Kuhel on the shoulder with a pitch. One word led to another and then to fistfuffs. Players of both teams rushed out and Alan Strange of the Browns joined in the sparring. All three were banished.

The White Sox went on to win, 14 to 9, with Luke Appling batting in five runs in leading a 14-hit attack. The Browns captured the nightcap, 10 to 3, with a 17-hit assault for George Caster's first victory of the year.

Betty Erne and Lois Parry Feature at Swimming Event

Former Tied for Honors in 100 Meter Race; Miss Parry Gets District Title

Betty Erne and Lois Parry kept the Williams Lake colors flying Sunday at the Adirondack District A. A. U. swimming championships held at the new Addison Miller Pool in Utica. Betty Erne brought the local club a place in the junior national event by placing third in the 100 meter backstroke title race. Lois Parry captured the district title in the breaststroke and finished runner up to Rita Weaver of Troy in three other events.

The feature event of the program was the women's 100 meter backstroke for the junior national championship of United States. At the crack of the gun it looked like a close race between Rita Weaver of Troy, Jane Grogan of the St. George Dragon Club, Mary Schmidt of the Utica A. C. and Betty Erne of Williams Lake. At the half way point it was still Weaver, Grogan and Erne with the Schmidt girl still within striking distance. At this point however, Rita Weaver, Jane Grogan and Betty Erne began to pull out with Grogan enjoying a lead that the Troy girl could not quite overcome. The winner's time was 1 minute 33.4 seconds.

Lois Parry brought Williams Lake its first women's district championship by easily winning the breaststroke event. Lois has been working on this event for the past few weeks and had so perfected her stroke that the outcome was never in doubt after the first 10 meters. With a good five meter lead over her nearest competitor, Rita Quigley of Troy, Lois went into the butterfly stroke for sprint and finished in the near record time of 1 minute 48.4 seconds.

As was expected, Rita Weaver of the Prospect Park Club in Troy still the top notch swimmer in this district, captured all the free-style events and also the backstroke. But Rita did not have everything her own way in any of these events. Lois Parry, who is coming closer to her each meet in the 50 and 100 yard defending champion, had a harder fight in these two events than she has had in many a day, and for the first half of the backstroke race both Lois and Betty Erne gave Miss Weaver something to worry about.

Sam Bacon, of Albany, swimming unattached, captured all the freestyle events for men. The outstanding time of the meet was turned in by the 200 meter breaststroke for men when Jack McKenzie of the Prospect Park Club of Troy set a new record for the event of 3 minutes and 14 seconds. At Williams Lake Sunday, in the absence of their swimming team, the water show consisted of a water polo game between the Flushing Y. M. C. A. and the Jamaica Y. M. C. A. plus a diving and comedy act starring Buddy Crimone. Norm Syman, Davey Russell and Madelyn Zwicker. In addition to this several of the swimmers appeared in a water ballet.

This Quartet Will Officiate at All-Star Game

According to the schedule ahead in the Men's Federation Softball League, Clinton Avenue, now leaders by 1 1/2 games, should go through this final week and retain its leadership. Port Ewen, Presbyterians and the Baptists follow in that order.

The final say will be between Clinton Avenue and Port Ewen. The Presbys have a slight chance to back into the first place slot. With only one game left on its schedule, the Baptists might keep a hold on a play-off berth which it now holds.

Coming down to the real vital points of this week the schedule pits Port Ewen against St. James tonight. In fifth place, the Saints aren't figured to stop the juggernaut of the second place. Tuesday night an important battle comes off with Clinton Avenue and Presbyterians. The Clintons will just about eliminate the Presbys from any further hopes on first by winning this tussle.

Wednesday night Port Ewen engages the seventh place Congregationalists who might pull a big surprise and knock off Port Ewen in this last lap. However, the boys from the outside of the Rondout creek are favored. The Baptists get a chance to improve their hold on first by meeting Trinity Lutheran. Redemmers play Presbyterians in the final game and this may not hurt the Elmendorf street representatives. A loss, however, would seriously hurt their chance of keeping a hold on third place.

Thursday the league play ends when the Clinton Avenue team meets Congregational. Port Ewen also takes on Trinity Lutherans. The first and second place teams are considered favorites in these brace of tussles.

With all this in mind the Clinton Avenue team still appears safe throughout the coming week. The Clintons have retained its present position for a number of weeks now while Port Ewen has been forced to tag along in second.

The results of last week: Clinton Avenue 11, Lutherans 7; Port Ewen 9, Presbyterians 3; Port Ewen also awarded protested game with Ulster Park; also played a 4-4 tie with Congregationalists. Presbyterians won a forfeited contest from First Reformed.

The standings to date:

Club	Won	Lost	Pct.
Clinton Avenue	18	2	.900
Port Ewen	16	3	.842
Presbyterians	14	6	.700
Baptists	14	7	.666
St. James	13	7	.650
Trinity Lutherans	12	7	.631
Congregationalists	9	11	.450
First Reformed	6	15	.286
Hurley	5	16	.238
Fair Street	4	16	.200

Sports Roundup

H. S. FULLERTON, Jr.

(Pinch-Hitting for Eddie Briest)

New York, Aug. 12 (The Special News Service)—The 1941 football guide will be off the new publisher's presses and ready for sale August 24. We've had a peek at an advance copy and can tell you the pictures alone will be worth your four bits. Hawaii is bidding for the 1942 national swimming championships, and no wonder. The boys left St. Louis yesterday heading directly for Joe Cook's to get some of those reasons why they didn't imitate four (or more) Hawaiians. The Boston Bruins Hockey Club may be sold before the end of this month. Neil Boardman, a music prof. at the U. of South Dakota, brought three pacers 2,000 miles to race at Roosevelt raceway. From down beats to hoof beats, eh? The Eddie Blunt-Bill Poland fight August 27 at Washington is the longest scheduled heavyweight fight in two decades. It's for 25 rounds, and the worst part is it might even last that long. Here's one (and only one) time the Phillies are first. Danny Litwhiler was the season's first National League to hit a homer in every park in the circuit.

Doing It Up Brown
San Antonio baseball writers who were a bit disgruntled that their club didn't get more help from the St. Louis Browns, have learned why. "When Carthage (Mo.), the Browns' other farm, wired: 'We need two pitchers, two infielders, two outfielders,' back came another wire: 'So do we.'"

No Service Charge
The response to last week's appeal for plans to stage army camp football games has been gratifying. One of the best comes from Bill Scanlan, of the La Crosse (Wis.) Tribune and the Notre Dame publicity department, who points out the first crying need is for equipment, and suggests that colleges contribute what they have left from last season. "Ford Frick says that major league clubs will play a lot of exhibition games at the big southern army camps next spring. They won't make any money on them but it's a swell way to build up future trade. The draft and defense jobs have taken so many Bi-State League umpers that utility players may be called on to work some games."

Today's Guest Star
Jack Carberry, Denver Post: "Cards or Dodgers, Dodgers or Cards—Either should be the Yankees' oyster. And October has an 'R' in it."

Short Shots
The Ebbsfield Field press department reports that Leo Rodak, who subs for Tippy Larkin against Maxie Shapiro Thursday, was born on the same day as Bat Nelson. Dick Wakefield ($45,000, remember?) is satisfied with the Piedmont League as a place to start, but he doesn't like those long bus rides. Out at Madison, Wis., the other day Golfing Clarence Garoville put his tee shot on the sixth hole six inches from the pin; rolled his seventh hole drive within five inches and then ace the eighth. Ace Parker's busted game has mended so quickly that he'll be on hand to greet the football Dodgers when they start training tomorrow and may play in the opening game.

The other American League clubs can't keep hating the Yankees. In a week's road tour, the Yanks drew 123,000 customers and three sellout crowds. The California boxing commission held a solemn meeting a while back to ask promoters why their fight shows weren't drawing better. Mike Jacobs will ask $30 for ring-side seats for Louis-Nova. That's the highest price since the Baer-Louis affair, which wasn't

Police Will Meet In Stadium Game Wednesday, Aug. 20

First Contest of Series Is Scheduled for Newburgh, Thursday Night, August 14

The annual baseball classic between the Kingston and Newburgh police departments opens on Thursday when the Kingston police team travels to Newburgh where the first of the two-game series will be staged. Wednesday, August 20, the Newburgh team will clash with the Kingston police at the stadium when the game will be called at 6 o'clock.

Although Lieut. Fred Stoudt, star twirler of the Kingston police force, is on vacation, he is expected to be ready to take the mound on Thursday. Officer Lenville Reylea will be on the receiving end for Kingston.

For several years this annual series of ball games between the Kingston and Newburgh police departments has been held, and it is expected that when Newburgh plays here on August 20, that there will be a record breaking crowd of fans on hand for the game.

Dodgers to Play Napanoch Sunday

Recreations to Meet Bronx Giants Wednesday Night; Black Yankees on Friday

Clubs Will Test Locals for Bushwick Battle; Bronx Club Lists Many Collegians

Two high class baseball attractions are listed for municipal stadium Wednesday and Friday evenings of this week. The first engagement is Wednesday when the Bronx Giants appear here. The celebrated Black Yankees come in Friday.

Both of these contests will serve Skipper Joe Hoffman with anything he needs in the way of preparing for next week's outstanding tussle with the Brooklyn Bushwicks. The Bushwicks will play here Tuesday, August 19, in the game of games of the year.

Highlighted with several young college all stars, the Bronx Giants will make their first appearance here this week. However, the club has met and defeated Poughkeepsie and Newburgh teams many times in the past years.

The Giants will probably start Wednesday's game with Ken Hess, Syracuse star, on first; George Franjola of St. John's at second; Pat Murphy on third, and Fred Torrence of Temple at short. The outfield lists Bob Harris in left, Bob Votova in center and Bill Young of St. John's in right. Johnny Mackin or Larry Murator, both top-notch receivers, will be ready to start behind the plate.

The Bronx pitching staff is strong with Johnny Ryan of Manhattan, the logical starter here Wednesday; Tom Garland and Bill Bohn. Bill Lack is another hurler who might get the assignment to work against Kingston.

Black Yankees Here
Seeking revenge for last year's 5 to 3 trimming the Black Yanks will be here Friday night under the powerful floodlighting system. Mules Suttles, outstanding home run clouter, Johnny Kimbro, John Stanley are just a few of the sensational players this ball club will show to local fans.

Suttles is known for his slugging. In New York recently, Mules batted in nine runs against the Bay Parkways. His drives included two round-trippers. He'll be a big man for Billy Ostrom to face Friday.

Bushwicks Have Sluggers
Ever since the Recreations started to bring in famous road teams this year, the cry has been for the famous Bushwicks. Now the chance will be theirs. Tabbed as one of the finest semi-pro outfits in the country, and one that rarely leaves its home park, Dexter in Brooklyn, the Bushwicks and Recreations should draw 3,500 fans or more. Many followers of the local club have remarked that the attendance at next Tuesday's game might surpass any turnout ever to witness a game here.

Leading the Bushwicks in the batting parade is Buddy Hall, one of the finest independent players who has a clip of .324. Others in the 300 bracket are better are "Bots" Nikola, Gene Rodgers, Charlie Hargrave, Danny McGee and Jimmy Ashworth. Solly Mishkin, veteran outfielder who has had a try-out with the Giants, is hitting .290 but has the best run-batted-in mark with 58. Mishkin also has played with Toronto of the International League.

In recent tabulation of records for the Bushwicks the team has played 52 games, won 33 and lost 18, tied one for a good percentage of .647. Of these engagements, the Bushwicks have won 17 and lost 13 Sunday daytime games. Their night ball, which they'll meet Kingston, has been better. They've won 15 and lost four in the after-dark games.

The pitching staff is headed, of course, by "Bots" Nikola, Montreal hurler and one-time Yankee. Nikola has won nine and dropped one. Bill Scott, a newcomer, has won five so far. Wally Signer has a record of six and three. Bob Miller nine and six and LaRocco one and nothing. Either Miller or Scott is the probable hurler for the Bushwicks against the Recreations.

Charles Holly Has Broken Arm; Still At Local Hospital
Albany Pitcher's Condition Is Reported 'Fair' This Morning; Hurt Arm Last Friday Night

The condition of Charles "Chuck" Holly, pitcher of the Albany McEnaneys who crumbled on the mound last Friday night at municipal stadium, is reported "fair" this morning. He is suffering from a broken arm at the Bendicite Hospital.

After hurling good ball for six innings the Capital District moundman, while pitching to Buddy Van Herper, Kingston's shortstop in the seventh inning, sank to the ground and clutched his arm.

At first it was believed that the ill-fated pitcher had dislocated a joint in his throwing arm. Charlie was rushed to the hospital where his injuries were diagnosed. Saturday morning he was operated on by Dr. Saul Ritchie.

Providing the condition of the player progresses during the week, he will be released from the hospital within a week or 10 days, it

Pauline Betz Is Top Seeded Again
Draws Dorothy Bundy for Doubles Match

Manchester, Mass., Aug. 12 (AP)—Pauline Betz, top seeded in the 17th annual Essex Country Club women's invitation tennis tourney, drew similar honors in the doubles, in which she will be paired with college mate Dorothy May Bundy, of Santa Monica, Calif.

Miss Betz, who was given a rest yesterday due to her grueling Sunday battle to capture the eastern grass courts title at Rye, N. Y., also enters the singles competition for the first time today, facing Barbara Neild, of Rye, N. Y.

Peper-DeHart

S. Mae DeHart of 35 Fullerton avenue, Newburgh, daughter of Mrs. Elisha Greene and the late Edward DeHart, was married to Arthur W. Peper of Woodstock, son of Mrs. David Myer and the late William Peper, in the Church of the Good Shepherd, Newburgh, Sunday, August 10. The Rev. George Brewin officiated. The bride was attended by Miss Shirley R. McWilliams; Clayton N. Harder, brother-in-law of the groom, was best man.

The bride was gown in beige crepe with beige lace redingote, beige accessories and she wore a corsage of pink roses. The maid-of-honor wore a brown net redingote over brown and white print gown with white accessories and a corsage of yellow roses.

The bride is a graduate of Newburgh Free Academy and New Paltz Normal School, a member of Gamma Sigma Beta and Arethusa sororities. She is a teacher in the Woodstock School. The groom is a graduate of the Woodstock School and Kingston High School.

After a trip through the New England states, Mr. and Mrs. Peper will live in Woodstock.

Doll House Show Ends Tomorrow

Tomorrow is the last day for the showing of the Colleen Moore Doll House at the Standard Furniture store, Fair street. This display has proven to be one of the most popular ever exhibited in Kingston. The management stated yesterday that as many people are attending as in cities of fifty and sixty thousand population. The attendance figure at closing time Monday evening was over 5,600 with 1,300 of that number on Saturday's registration and over 1,000 on Sunday. The ratio of adults to children is about 3 to 1 and a number of persons have been to see the exhibit two or three times. The doll house will be exhibited at New Bedford, Mass., following the Kingston engagement.

Hostesses for tomorrow under the chairmanship of Mrs. Leon Chambers will be Mrs. William A. Carl, Mrs. Harry LeFever, Jr., Mrs. N. H. Fessenden, Miss Elizabeth Terry and Mrs. Preston Hasbrouck.

Reynolds Is Engaged

To Evalyn W. McLean

Washington, Aug. 12 (AP)—Senator Robert R. Reynolds of North Carolina, 57, red-headed and four times married, received congratulations today from his colleagues on his engagement to Evalyn W. McLean, 20-year old Washington heiress.

"I consider myself a very fortunate man," said "Our Bob," confirming reports of the forthcoming wedding. He added that no date had been set and that other information would have to come from Mrs. Evalyn Walsh McLean, mother of the bride-to-be.

Reynolds, as chairman of the Senate military affairs committee, is slated to leave late this week for an inspection trip to Iceland which he said would last several weeks. The wedding probably will take place shortly after his return.

Listen to Corn Grow

Omaha, Neb. (AP)—"My corn is growing so fast you can hear it," corn belt farmers often boast. It took Frank L. Shopen, a frankly skeptical radio engineer, to give pseudo-scientific authenticity to the comment. Willing to be shown, he moved a radio set capable of amplifying sound 2,500 times into a field where hybrid corn was shooting up at the rate of almost six inches a day. He set a microphone at the base of a stalk. He listened. Miss Jackie MacBride, an eye-witness to the experiment, listened. Farmer W. H. Woodward listened. Through the earphones came a faint, scarcely audible "shshshshshsh." Probably tube noise, commented Shopen, still unconvinced. He moved the microphone away from the stalk. Not a sound. Said Shopen: "I'll be —"

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "The Personality of a House," "The Book of Social Usage," etc.)

Several Factors Decide Whether Or Not You May Ask The Bride What She Is Planning To Wear

Whether or not one may ask personal questions depends entirely upon one's sensitiveness to that person's feelings. To a reader who asks if it is a breach of good manners to ask a bride-to-be what she and her attendants are wearing at the wedding, the answer in some times—"yes" and sometimes—"no!"

If you, let us say, are an intimate friend, but cannot go to the wedding, either because of mourning, or illness, or other reasons, it would be proper to ask her to tell you about her dress, and the dresses of the bridesmaids and every other detail. In this case, she will certainly be willing to tell you.

If you are just a friend among many, and are going to the wedding, you might say, "Are you telling anyone about the wedding—about your dress and the bridesmaids?" To this she can easily answer, "Wait until you see us—I want it to be a surprise." Very likely she will answer, "Oh, the usual white satin for me; Mary and Jane are wearing deep pink, and Alice, powder-pink."

Most brides are willing to talk about the bridesmaids' dresses because they themselves are likely to tell everybody about them. Very often she says nothing about her own dress further than that she is wearing a white one with a tulle veil—or a lace one. In any case, there is one rule: Don't press a bride for a more detailed description than she herself volunteers to give.

The Material For An Autumn Wedding Dress

Dear Mrs. Post: What do you suggest as being a good material for my late September wedding? The weather is usually warm then, but it is also far into the fall to buy new summer clothes. Answer: Any material that looks as though it had weight. There are such lovely manufactured silks that look soft and heavy both. Heavy crepes, satins that look as though they were pouring out upon the floor, gross-grains that look like the silks once seen only in dresses of highest cost, are to be found in special ready-to-wear wedding dresses at amazingly moderate prices.

Who Is First To Kiss Bride And Groom

Dear Mrs. Post: At a wedding at the house, when the bride and groom turn around after the service, do the guests hang back and let the mothers go first to kiss the bride and groom? After that, do the mothers turn around and stand next to the bride and groom to receive people?

Answer: The mothers and fathers standing nearest to them are naturally given this privilege first, and then the other members of the immediate families. But the parents should move far enough away to leave plenty of space for themselves as well as for the bride and groom and the bride's attendants.

FAIR

HOME BUREAU

State Fair Exhibits

Ulster County Homemakers are expected to visit the Home Bureau exhibits at the State Fair to see what homemakers of New York state as a whole are doing for national defense.

There are eight exhibits in all. These exhibits will show what nearly 38,000 women belonging to the Home Bureau organized in more than 1,400 communities in New York state are doing in their homes to build national strength through individual strength—through better meal planning and cooking, wise money management, more skillful making of clothing, home furnishings and toys, as well as through studying civics and keeping themselves informed of what is going on in the world.

This year's exhibits, which are sponsored by the New York State Federation of Home Bureaus, are being presented by Chemung, Franklin, Jefferson, Lewis, Monroe, Orleans, Rensselaer and Saratoga County Home Bureau groups and will be in the Harriet May Hills Building, the Women's Building at the fair.

To emphasize the fact that courage, cooperativeness and productive capacity, as well as the good old-fashioned feeling of buoyant good health so very important to national defense—are all dependent upon proper food, Chemung, Rensselaer and Orleans counties are combining their efforts to present a triple-header exhibit of healthful foods.

Rosendale Board To Fill Vacancy

Mrs. O'Connor's Successor Will Be Named

A special meeting of the Rosendale town board is slated for tomorrow evening at 8 o'clock for the purpose of naming a successor to Mary L. O'Connor, welfare officer who was ousted by vote of the board a little more than a week ago.

It was learned today that a member of the Democratic party in Rosendale is being considered by members of the board to succeed Mrs. O'Connor, but those who claimed they had definite information to that effect, refused to name the person under consideration.

Mrs. O'Connor was voted out of office on adoption of a resolution put before the board by Arthur Aldridge, a Democratic member of the board who charged in effect that Mrs. O'Connor and another member of the board, George McEvoy, made arrangements to designate a certain grocer in the township as the one to supply food to a family on relief.

Both Mrs. O'Connor and Mr. McEvoy denied these charges before the board, but the resolution was put through by a vote of three to two. Mrs. O'Connor also asked at the meeting that something be done about the charges brought by the state auditing department against Al Trandle, town highway superintendent.

Mr. Trandle at the start of the meeting handed over a check of $196 which represented an amount charged against him in the complaint of the state auditors.
